Mom Denies Son Beat Up Ex-Wife

By CYNTHIA KYLE
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Testimony resumes today in a murder trial that feminist groups call a landmark case for women abused by their husbands. Francine Hughes, 30, is accused of the first-degree murder of James Hughes, Hughes, 31, died March 9 in a fire at the couple's Dansville home. The trial opened Monday.

Hughes' mother testified Tuesday before an Ingham County circuit jury that she knew the couple had fought, but wasn't aware of any beatings.

The elder Mrs. Hughes, a gray-haired woman who spoke with a southern drawl, was removed briefly from the witness stand by Judge Ray C. Hotchkiss after she questioned defense attorney Aryan Greydanus' cross examination. "You just ask me something else," the woman said angrily when asked if her son had ever repeatedly hit her in the face or broke down a door at her Dansville home.

"My son never beat up on me. How dare you? He didn't break down no door," Mrs. Hughes said. "Your information's wrong. You better go back and get some more. This makes me mad."

Back on the stand after a 10-minute recess Mrs. Hughes said she would have called police if she had known of the alleged beatings. "I don't know that he ever beat her," she testified. "I know of them having fights."

The elder Mrs. Hughes said her daughter-in-law sometimes came to her nearby home to avoid Hughes, a high school sweetheart she wed in 1965.

"She has hid in our home so many times," Mrs. Hughes said. "I didn't know if they were playing games or fighting. They did that before they were married. I didn't know what they were doing."

She told Greydanus during cross-examination that she didn't recall telling police that her son repeatedly beat his ex-wife or remember calling a

'Fuzzbuster' Ban Upheld In Oakland

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Speeding-motorists whizzing through Oakland County under the safety of a "fuzzbuster" may pick up one of the traffic tickets they seek to avoid. Oakland County Circuit Judge Robert Templin has upheld a county law banning the radar-detecting devices. Templin's order Monday overturned a that of lower court, which had dismissed a ticket against Daniel Gilbert of Lansing. Gilbert was cited for having one of the devices in his car. The judge ruled that the devices come under a 1929 law against police monitoring even though the law does not specifically mention radar. Use of the fuzzbusters in Oakland County is punishable by a $500 fine or 90 days in jail. A similar case in Berrien County was dismissed earlier this year. Oakland County is the only one in the state where fuzzbusters are illegal.

$750,000 On Way For SMC Building

DOWAGIAC — A bill that includes state matching funds to start construction of a $3.6 million multi-purpose instructional building at Southwest Michigan College here has been signed by Gov. William G. Milliken.

SMC will receive $750,000 toward a proposed state grant of $1,785,000 in state funds during the current budget year, according to Dr. Fred L. Mathews, SMC board chairman. The $750,000 is the maximum amount the state will match in any one year.

Plans call for the building to be a two-story structure housing classrooms and specialized laboratory spaces for SMC programs in art, business, drama, music, architecture/drafting, technical science, and development/self-help, as well as spaces for faculty and support staff. "The architectural firm of Davenport Associates of Grand Rapids has prepared preliminary plans for the building," Mathews said, "and the $1 million bond sale proposed by the college for construction of the facility has been approved by the Municipal Finance Commission."

Dr. Mathews said that "careful fiscal management" by the college has provided reserve funds, some of which will be used in conjunction with the newly approved state matching funds, making construction of the $3.6 million facility possible.

"Southwestern Michigan College especially appreciates the assistance of State Sen. Charles O. Zollar in steering the bill through the legislature," Dr. Mathews said.

Dog Racing Defeat Laid To Horse Track Lobby

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Two southwestern Michigan legislators have blamed the defeat of a bill that would have legalized pari-mutuel dog racing in Michigan squarely on a powerful lobby for horse racing tracks.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, and Rep. Ray

Mittan, R-Niles both lashed out at horse racing interests for Tuesday's 27-6 Senate vote that killed a proposal to establish up to 10 greyhound racing tracks in the state.

"The horse racing people just don't want any competition," Zollar said. "They had their strong-arm troops out...they have some very efficient and persuasive lobbyists. The bill never had a chance."

Mittan spoke even more strongly. "I would like to see the horse people investigated," he declared. "They're doing something they probably shouldn't be doing."

"There's nothing wrong with dog racing that isn't wrong with horse racing. The only people who oppose dog racing are people who own horse tracks, and there are no horse racing tracks west of Jackson. The whole thing is on the east side of this state."

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, reportedly had strong support from labor and trade unions and tourist associations, but still fell far short of the 20 votes needed for passage.

Nelson had estimated that it would create 4,000 jobs in constructing tracks, 3,000-5,000 jobs in staffing tracks and would generate $300 million in business and $35-$50 million in revenue for the state.

Zollar noted that after the horse racing lobbyists had done their job, he was among only three of the bill's eight original co-sponsors who voted for it Tuesday. Three others voted against it and two did not vote.

Zollar said that in his own district reaction was strongly in favor of legalized dog racing, with the only real opposition coming from the Rev. Arnold Bohn, executive director of the Berrien County Council of Churches.

Zollar described much of opposition to dog racing on moralistic grounds as "somewhat hypocritical," pointing out that "many of the churches down there inundated me with requests to pass the bingo bill."

Defeat of the bill is a setback to at least one syndicate that had hoped to establish a $10 million dog racing track somewhere in Berrien County.

During hearings on the bill last August in Benton Harbor, Sheridan Cook of Niles revealed that he was a member of a group of investors who were ready to apply for a racing license if dog racing was legalized.

At that time, Cook said that the proposed track would be located within a mile or two of 1-94 somewhere in Berrien County and estimated that it would employ 400-500 people.

Should Schools Teach Not To Kill?

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A judge who sentenced a 16-year-old to die in the electric chair says law and order should be taught in public schools, just like reading and writing, to help curb such crimes. Polk Circuit Judge Clifton Kelly wants the state legislature to require that such a course be added to the curriculum.

"Something has to be done to stop crimes like this," Kelly said in a 13-page appendix to the death sentence he imposed Monday on Frank Ross. The teen-ager was convicted of stomping a 64-year-old woman to death in a $6 robbery last year. The sentence will be reviewed by the Florida Supreme Court, an automatic procedure in death penalty cases in Florida.

Kelly says the murder of Helen Dixon might have been avoided if Ross had been taught at an impressionable age that stealing and robbing are against the law, and that if he killed someone, he, too, could be killed by the state. "I am not referring to a one-shot, instant success approach to the age-old problem of crime, but instead to a massive, determined, long-range effort by the schools to reduce crime," the judge said.

FRANK ROSS JR.

said. "Taking into account the rate of violent crimes and the fear that many people have about being criminally assaulted and their property taken from them by force, it plainly appears that the government is not fulfilling its obligation to provide domestic tranquility," he said. "Being a parent, I am quick to point out that the true and best answer to crime prevention and control lies in the home, but there is no prescribed rule, regulation or law that requires parents to teach their children anything or provide them with any particular type of training. "It would be foolhardy to expect those parents who make it a practice to violate the law themselves, to teach their children to obey the laws," he said.

Herald-Palladium Honored By AP

The Herald-Palladium is one of 33 newspapers in the United States recognized for outstanding news and newphoto contributions to the Associated Press news report this year.

It was the third time since the Associated Press Managing Editors Association inaugurated the awards in 1969 that The Herald-Palladium has won this national honor.

The APMEA is made up of managing editors and other news executives of the more than 1,300 member newspapers in the AP, the world's largest news gathering and distributing agency.

The awards for 1977 were announced Tuesday at the annual convention of the APMEA in New Orleans, La.

The AP is a news cooperative whose members provide coverage of news in their areas for distribution through the AP bureaus in their states. The awards recognized the winning newspapers for outstanding contributions of news and photographs to the worldwide news and wirephoto networks of the AP.

The Herald-Palladium was similarly honored by the APMEA in 1969, when the awards were inaugurated. It was a winner of the national honor again in 1974.

The Herald-Palladium was recipient of two significant state awards last year, the University of Michigan Press Club's "Excellence in Journalism" award, and the Michigan Associated Press Managing Editor's "Member of the Year" award.

The Detroit Free Press was the only other Michigan paper to win the national award for 1977 for both news and photos. One other nearby newspaper, the Elkhart Truth of Elkhart, Ind., was another among the 33 winners nationally.

Another 48 papers in the United States were recognized by the APMEA for outstanding contributions of either news or newsphotos alone to the AP news report.

Milliken Signs Home Fix-Up Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new state law authorizes the state Housing Development Authority to issue bonds to rehabilitate low and moderate-income housing.

The $100 million rehabilitation program is designed to reverse the decline of urban areas. Development bonds will fund some $61 million, while state appropriations will provide $18 million and local funds add $21 million over three years. The measure was signed into law Tuesday by the governor.

About half the program will be for home improvement loans and grants, while the other half will be directed to neighborhood improvement programs.

The governor also signed into law a $4.3 million budget bill to fund planning and construction projects at several community colleges.

JUDGES PIZZA: Joseph F. Defresne, administrative law judge for the Federal Trade Commission, sampled pizza and held court in Pillsbury Co. kitchen Tuesday as part of government antitrust case. (AP Wirephoto)

Judge Eats Up Pizza Evidence

By GERRY NELSON
Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The judge ate the evidence, attorneys spread their papers on a kitchen counter and the place reeked of pizza. At the end of the session Tuesday, Joseph Defresne, an administrative law judge for the Federal Trade Commission, had eaten 10 slices of pizza. He had little to say. He took his findings back to Washington, where the FTC's Bureau of Competition is trying to make Pillsbury divest itself of one of its two frozen pizza companies.

Pillsbury asked Defresne to sample the pizza in an effort to prove that most pizza tastes basically the same, whether it comes from a freezer, a pizza parlor or a box on a grocery shelf. Pillsbury markets the Minneapolis-based Totino's brand of frozen pizza and held 14 per cent of the frozen pizza market last November, according to the FTC. Pillsbury then bought the Chicago-based Fox Deluxe brand of frozen pizza with its 2 per cent slice of the market, the government says.

The frozen pizza market totals about $500 million a year; four firms, including Pillsbury, sell about 60 per cent of the frozen pies, the FTC says. Pillsbury wants its sales judged against a national pizza appetite estimated at $3 billion a year.

Defresne moved the case to the Pillsbury research kitchens here at Pillsbury's request. Pans of pizza were served one by one in a conference room, marked only by number but later identified by type — two restaurant pizzas; five frozen brands, including two Totino's and one Fox; one refrigerated style; one prepared with a readymade crust, and one made from a dry mix. FTC attorney Roger Teifer argued it was "unseemly and undignified" for the judge to do the taste test. Teifer and two other government lawyers refused to join in the fasting.

Pillsbury attorney John French said it was no different from a judge or jury visiting the site of a legal dispute. It took about 40 minutes for the judge to consume the evidence. Although warned that he might want to savor only a bite from each small slice, Defresne left no scraps. "This is lunch for me," he said.

Panama's Hesitant Referendum

In our country if a Congressional candidate is elected by a 100-vote margin the winner and his friends promptly declare the result to be a mandate from the people.

Should the result emerge in a 5-4, 3-2 or 2-1 favoring ratio, the headline writers automatically style it to be a landslide.

Sunday's 2-1 referendum in Panama approving the two treaties turning over the Canal Zone to Panama by the year 2000, as judged by U.S. standards, would fit within the latter description.

Opinion south of the border disputes that assessment.

Prior to the plebiscite, Panama's chief negotiator, Romulo Escobar Bethancourt, predicted an 85 percent approval by his countrymen.

Following the election, his fellow negotiator, Carlos Lopez Guevara, stated a massive vote in favor was not expected "because we're paying a price for the treaties."

General Omar Torrijos, the country's president thus far has withheld public comment.

Conceivably the vote emerged less than Bethancourt's prediction because a number of the more volatile Panamanians switched their ballots following a joint statement by Carter and Torrijos seeking to clarify the wording in the two treaties concerning U.S. rights to defend the canal from foreign aggression.

The Carter-Torrijos statement was aimed at the U.S. Senate where at this time it is a question mark if the necessary two-thirds approval can be obtained.

In effect, the statement says the American right of intervention is paramount.

Presumably this irritated those elements in Panama which are anti-American.

The most which can be said for the treaties is that they culminate 13 years of on and off bargaining between Washington and Panama City on a thorny issue in New Hemispheric relations.

The U.S. negotiating team went beyond the 50-50 line to reassure our Latin American neighbors that the image of our country being the Colossus of the North is a fiction which should be laid to rest once and forever.

As this column pointed out some weeks ago following the September 7th signing ceremony between Carter and Torrijos, the U.S. needlessly is hamstringing itself by promising not to seek out other inter-oceanic routes until 2000 A.D.

The danger in the clause is not so much in the 23-year ceiling as it being construed by Carter and Torrijos is not crystal clear.

It omits any mention of U.S. rights should a Soviet oriented, basically anti-American government of the Castro stripe take over in Panama.

Guevara's stringent comment on the plebiscite is a warning for the Senate to demand clarifying amendments to the treaties before it votes upon them.

Leaving the interpretation to two heads of state who won't be around when Panama assumes full control of the canal is asking for trouble in the coming generation.

Giving It Away Too Fast To Weed Out The Cheats

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph A. Califano Jr. has confirmed in an interview that the Medicaid program is rampant with payments for ineligible claims, but denies the administration has given up efforts to reduce abuses.

Califano said audits of Medicaid funds paid out between April and September, 1976, showed 4.7 million ineligible claims totaling $229 million were paid. Projecting that over a full year and adding matching funds paid by the states would bring the total to more than one billion dollars.

Although only about 47,000 of the 4.7 million questionable claims involved doctors or druggists, Califano said HEW is investigating 2,500 of these on a state-by-state basis. Civil action or criminal prosecution could result.

As to why so few of allegedly improper payments have been investigated, Califano blamed it on "a system that has grown like topsy, that inadequate attention has been paid to over the past several years, and we move as fast as we can."

That is not much of an explanation for paying up to one billion dollars worth of bills submitted to HEW and the states for which nothing was owed.

Work-management teams, once known as "efficiency experts," traditionally concentrated their efforts on blue collar workers. But assembly line efficiency has reached such heights and the number of white collar workers has grown so rapidly in proportion to plant personnel, that tradition has been broken.

A quarter century ago, blue collar workers outnumbered the office help 3 to 2. Today, the ratio is reversed. Tomorrow, office personnel may outnumber plant workers 2 to 1.

One work management official estimates that only 5 per cent of office personnel is subject to systematic review of work output, compared to 80 to 85 per cent of production workers. He says utilization of manpower in offices rarely rises above 50 per cent, while in plants with management controls it generally hovers around the 70 per cent mark.

That doesn't necessarily mean the white collar worker is a goof-off. But it indicates his work may be poorly organized, with resultant inefficiencies.

Bringing the time and motion study men out of the plant into the front office may be only the latest step in industrial progress, but what follows that act could be a computerized version.

SJHS Senate Chief Calls Demonstration 'Senseless'

Editor,

After reading your paper's article concerning the protest at St. Joseph High School on Oct. 20, 1977, I felt it necessary to write this supplementary letter. Your paper quoted me as saying that the demonstration was "ill-timed." Not only was it ill-timed, but it was senseless and irresponsible as well.

I sympathize with and support those students who were protesting the destruction of the trees near Lakeview Avenue. What began as a trimming and beautification project got carried away and some beautiful trees were destroyed. This was an unfortunate incident. However, I did not, then, and do not now, give my support to the student protest and sit-in. This is a situation which could have been resolved by dealing with the proper authorities at the proper time and in the proper manner. It is unfortunate that some students feel that it is necessary to fight the "system" in order to achieve results.

In this case, as is true in concentration given to those 1,400 students who chose to remain in class. But perhaps this is to be expected.

In reflecting on the events of last Thursday at St. Joseph High School, it is quite sad to think that the rash actions of 300 students will long shadow the achievements of the remaining 1,100. But when the smoke clears, those 300 students, or some portion thereof, will be held responsible for their actions — and responsible they should be. My only request is that the citizens of St. Joseph do not condemn the school or its students for the actions of a few. We do not hold the mass public responsible for the actions of a few individuals.

Jack R. Gardner — known in Michigan and Florida as a businessman, yachtsman and Scout leader — died Wednesday in St. Joseph Memorial hospital. Jack Gardner, 68, and his brother, Dick, established Gardner's Sporting Goods store in Benton Harbor. The firm has since changed ownership, but keeps the Gardner name. Active in Scouting, Mr. Gardner was awarded the Silver Beaver award in 1940 and established the Silver Spray Sea Scout Ship Squadron in Berrien county. Butch is his name — and this time the Benton Harbor Fire Department has officially announced that they have found a successor to "Captain Jiggs," the famous canine smoke eater of another day. Butch, a 10-month-old Boston Bull, was a gift to firemen three weeks ago from Mrs. C.M. Pare, 1087 Agard street, Benton Harbor. Already the pup has 26 alarms to his credit. And the brindle colored fire dog has indicated he is ready for more — many more. Butch has responded to training quickly so firemen decided to officially adopt him. The shoes of Butch's predecessor are pretty big and he'll have to go a long way to fill them. "Captain Jiggs" was buried Oct. 12, 1948, after almost eight years as a smoke-eater. Old timers say he had 3,000 alarms to his credit before he died of a heart attack.

DELINQUENT FATHERS COVERAGE CRITICIZED

Editor,

I have for several years enjoyed your newspaper and your usually fine coverage of local affairs. However, this is not to say that all of your reporting is of the highest quality!

I would like to register my extreme displeasure of your reporting of local fathers who are in court for child-support arrears. On many occasions I have seen bold type on the front page ridiculing "Deadbeat Dads". This, in my opinion, is revolting journalism!

Webster defines a deadbeat as, "one who persistently fails to pay debts; a loafer." In some instances this may be the case, however, unemployment, sickness, support of a new family, etc., are in many cases contributing to the fathers' arrears.

Divorce is a terrible trauma for many men to adjust to. Many men have a hard time

Winning Support Is Up To Carter

WASHINGTON — Unless President Carter learns to distinguish the symptoms from the disease, his ailing Panama Canal treaties are going to die on the operating table of the United States Senate.

For starters, the President had better find a more sensitive diagnostician than Hamilton Jordan, who seems to have a grossly oversimplified notion of what is bothering the Senate about the canal pacts.

"Some of these bastards don't have the spine not to vote their mail. If you change their mail, you change their mind," Jordan said recently, according to the New York Times.

Needless to mention, his analysis did not sit well with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who must cast the first votes on Carter's treaties.

It is not the avalanche of adverse mail which has jeopardized the canal pact on Capitol Hill, but rather the deep-seated and widespread public opposition to the treaties which both the mail and the opinion polls reflect.

Carter and his Georgia mafia may have forgotten the lessons of the past decade, if indeed they ever learned them. But there are others who have not.

"In a democracy, any policy that, over the long term, involves substantial risk must have the support of the American people," former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger told the Foreign Relations Committee.

"No president, no Congress can pursue a matter of public policy very long without the support of the people," echoed Kissinger's predecessor, Dean Rusk.

They ought to know, if anyone should. And there was not a senator in the hearing room who did not shiver slightly at the ghosts of Vietnam as Kissinger and Rusk delivered their warnings.

As it happens, both men vigorously support the proposed Panama Canal treaties — and the fear of another Vietnam is very much a part of their reasoning.

Without a new treaty, Kissinger warned, it is almost inevitable that the United States will have to resort to force to keep the canal open. "In five years or so, our forces there are likely to be facing guerrilla action," he predicted grimly.

There is, of course, no guarantee that ratification of the treaties will forever remove the need for armed U.S. intervention to maintain the neutrality of the canal.

But as Kissinger and Rusk noted, the treaties would provide legal and moral justification for such action — not just to other nations, but to our own.

"The American people will be comfortable only if they perceive the use of force to have some legal and moral basis," Kissinger said.

Members of the Foreign Relations Committee were deeply impressed by Rusk and Kissinger, calling their testimony "the most persuasive yet" in support of the canal treaties.

But the most crucial advice the two former secretaries of state had to offer was directed not at the Senate, but at Carter: "Public opinion must be won over."

"No one can do it except the President," said Kissinger. "It is not enough to answer an occasional question at a press conference, or to send administration officials to the Hill for occasional testimony."

Jordan can generate all the pro-treaty mail in the world without changing a single senatorial vote. If Carter really wants those treaties ratified, he must personally assume the responsibility for convincing the American people it is the wise thing to do.

Like Kissinger and Rusk, members of the Senate have learned the folly of pursuing a foreign policy that does not command support. It is not their job to win over the skeptics. It is Carter's, and he had better get moving on it fast.

Can Connally Beat Carter?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater hints heavily that his first choice for the 1980 GOP presidential nomination is former Secretary of Treasury John Connally.

Goldwater said recently he thinks Connally would have "a fair chance" of beating President Carter. "I can't think of anybody else who could," he added.

The 1964 presidential nominee's support could help to shore up Connally's bid to replace Ronald Reagan as the hero of the GOP right wing.

Goldwater, once the right wing's favorite himself, said he wasn't bothered by the fact Connally was a Democrat until a few years ago. "That doesn't make a bit of difference to me; I wish more Democrats would come over," he said.

Goldwater dismissed both Reagan and former President Gerald Ford as "too old" for the 1980 contest. He doesn't feel Sen. Howard Baker can pull it off and believes Sen. Robert Dole was hurt too badly by his weak 1976 vice presidential performance. He likes Illinois Gov. James Thompson and former United Nations Ambassador George Bush, but doubts either will work hard enough to get the nomination.

Pat Williams, a Democratic candidate for Congress next year in Montana, received a contribution from Clark Clifford, former secretary of defense and advisor to four Democratic presidents.

Williams' senior advisers were so pleased at this evidence of Democratic establishment support they urged Williams to spread the word in Montana that Clifford was in his corner. After sounding out local reaction, however, Williams decided to keep quiet about Clifford. "All anybody in Montana knows about him is that he was Lance's lawyer, and they don't like that," he explained. So much for fame.

House of Representatives beauticians will finally get equal pay with the House barbers. After a 3-year campaign by congresswomen on behalf of their hairdressers, the House Administration Committee voted to treat the 19 women who work in the beauty shop the same way the 11 male barbers are treated.

Currently the barbers, who work out of four shops, receive both their barbering fees and a federal salary so that they qualify for retirement, health care, vacations and other benefits available to all other House staff members. The women, however, have been denied salaries and thus the security of the federal employee benefits. They have been required to provide their own curlers, brushes and other equipment.

There's a poster featuring a squinty-eyed cowboy on the office door of GOP Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada. "There are a helluva lot of things they didn't tell me about when I hired on with this outfit," it says.

Secretary of Treasury W. Michael Blumenthal, who grew up in Shanghai, observed recently he may be the only person around the White House who understands the tax reform program. "But then I'm the only one in the Cabinet who can read Chinese," he added wryly.

BH OKs 2 Recreation Center Contracts

The Benton Harbor City Commission last night approved contracts totaling $33,616 for a parking lot and lighting at the recreation center located behind Benton Harbor High School.

But City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. told city commissioners last night a date for opening the $2.2 million recreation center, which was completed almost a year ago, still has not been determined. Farmer said city and school officials have not been able to reach agreement on how an estimated $170,950 a year in operating costs will be paid.

The commission voted to approve a $23,073 contract with John G. Yerrington Construction Co. to install an asphalt parking lot on the west side of the center and a $10,143 contract with Browning-Beaudoin Electric Construction Co. to install exterior lighting at the center.

Commissioner Charles Yarbrough was the only commissioner who voted no on approving the two contracts, saying he couldn't "see paying money into that when we don't know how we're going to operate it."

The money for the parking lot and lighting is coming from a U.S. Economic Development Administration grant that was allocated to the city for construction costs of the center, according to Farmer. Farmer said the money could only be used for construction at the center and said "whenever we get money to operate, lighting and parking will still be needed anyway."

City commissioners also urged Farmer to set up a meeting between school board members and commissioners to discuss operation of the center. Farmer is also vice president of the school board.

Farmer said the school board recreation committee did not accept a proposal by the city for splitting the $170,950 operating costs for the center. The proposal, Farmer said, called for the city to pay $107,700, the school to pay $53,000, and collection of the remaining $10,250 from fees charged at the center when it is in use.

The school board committee, made up of Frank Culby, Janet Scott and E.E. (Bill) Bentley, board president, reported at the Aug. 12 board meeting that the center may not be put into use during the 1977-1978 school year. The committee also charged that the city is violating "both the spirit and intent" of agreements between the city and schools to operate the center.

Construction of the center was completed in December. It was built with grants from federal and state agencies, Berrien County revenue sharing, and a $500,000 bond issue sold by the city.

Also submitting bids for the parking lot contract were Consumers Asphalt Co., which submitted a bid of $24,190 and Klett Construction Co., which submitted a bid of $24,842. Only Browning-Beaudoin Electrical submitted a bid for the lighting.

In other action, the commission directed City Atty. K. Morris Gavin to investigate if an ambulance Medic 1 is using in Benton Harbor can operate without a city license.

Stephen L. Reed, president and general manager of Rampart Ambulance service, a competing ambulance company, said Medic 1 has been operating an ambulance since February without a city license. "I've been harassed by the City of Benton Harbor and summoned 10 times for not having a license when I actually did," Reed said. "And Medic 1 can operate without one and you're doing nothing."

Gavin said the city ordinance does require city licensing of ambulances, but said he wanted to check if ambulance companies organized by municipalities would come under state law and pre-empting city ordinances.

Rampart, a private ambulance company, has been in competition with Medic 1 since the publicly-owned ambulance company was formed in February by Community

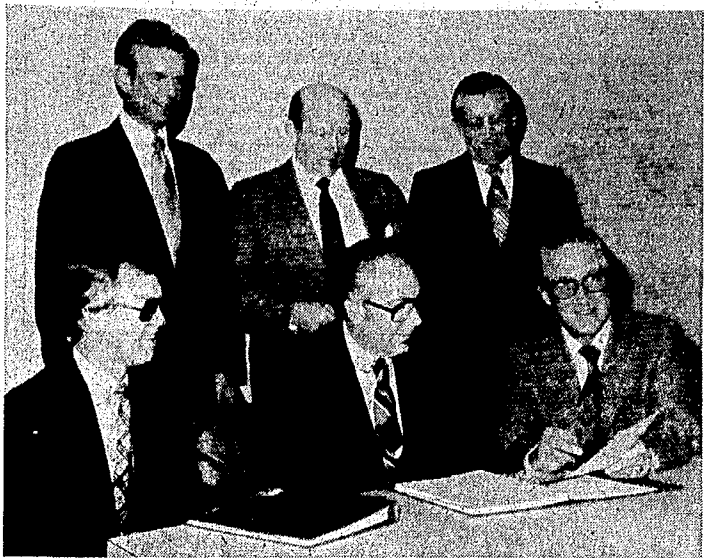

But, Still No Date Set For Opening

Emergency Service which is composed of 10 Twin City area municipalities.

The commission approved the sale of a single family home at 581 Clay St. to the Progressive Baptist church for $1. Farmer said the sales agreement stipulates that the house will remain on the city's property tax rolls. The house requires about $6,000 in repair work, Farmer said, and the church plans to work with the Benton Harbor Area Schools Vocational Educational program to fix up the house.

The commission also voted to approve a license for Twin City Cab Lines Co. to operate an additional cab, a 1970 Plymouth station wagon, in the city.

Swedish Firm Will Buy Saluto Foods Building

Macon Control Corporation has signed an agreement to buy the building formerly occupied by the administrative offices of Saluto Foods on Coloma Road, Hagar Township.

Announcement was made by Peter O. Jelby, president of Macon, a subsidiary of A. B. Markaryds Metallamatur, Markaryds, Sweden, and Roger Curry, executive vice president of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Macon is a newly formed corporation to sell and distribute thermostatic radiator valves manufactured by Markaryds, a producer of plumbing components.

The purchase agreement was signed with owners, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. (Connie) Hampton, who had leased the property to Saluto which has moved its offices to 330 W. Main St., Benton Harbor.

Jelby said Macon expects to occupy the 5,000-square-foot building in December. Within the next two years, Macon plans to assemble the product here and employ 15 to 20 people, Jelby said.

The radiator valves for hot water heating systems have been sold in the United States by Honeywell Company. Jelby said the new distribution system will mean marketing under the Macon name.

Macon is the second Swedish-based firm to locate in the Twin Cities area. Sandvik Steel has a plant in the Pipestone Industrial District, Benton Township.

Sandvik sales manager Lars Ojert and his wife were interpreters during negotiations for the property.

The Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce maintains an inventory of buildings sites available for industry in Berrien County. The Economic Development Corporation which operates out of chamber offices is funded by Berrien County and coordinates countywide economic development in cooperation with Four Flags Area Chamber of Commerce, Niles, and Buchanan Area Chamber of Commerce.

Terms of the sale were not disclosed.

BH Insurance Cancellations Is Topic Nov. 1

A public meeting to discuss insurance companies canceling homeowners' insurance of Benton Harbor residents will be held at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 1, Benton Harbor City Commissioner Arnold Bolin announced last night. Bolin said he set up the meeting after Leonard Reed of 758 Broadway complained at the Oct. 17 commission meeting about his homeowners insurance being canceled. Bolin, who is mayor pro tem, chaired that commission meeting in the absence of Mayor Joel Patterson.

Reed appeared before the commission again last night and said the insurance company has now renewed his homeowners insurance. He said he also received several calls after the commission meeting from people who had their insurance canceled. The meeting at the Benton Harbor public library will include a panel discussion by three local insurance people and a state official involved in the regulation of insurance companies.

Panel participants, according to Bolin, will be Jean Carlson, deputy assistant commissioner of the Michigan Insurance Bureau, a division of the Commerce Department; Dan L. Flaugh, of the F. Joseph Flaugh Insurance Agency; Vertis McManus, insurance consultant for Vertis McManus Ltd., Benton Harbor, and Bruce E. Spiller, of the Humphrey, Knaak, and Lynch Insurance Agency, Benton Harbor.

DUTIES EXPANDED: Duane Holt, Innkeeper of St. Joseph Holiday Inn, has been named general manager with duties expanded to include operation of restaurant and lounge. Mrs. Eyleene Boozer, has been appointed director of catering for motel. (Staff photo)

St. Joseph Holiday Inn Under One Umbrella Now

Duane Holt, innkeeper of the St. Joseph Holiday Inn since May, 1971, has been named general manager, with supervision extended to include the Flagship Restaurant and Admiral Lounge in the motel.

Holt said the change will put the entire operation of the St. Joseph Holiday Inn, including restaurant and lounge, under the control of the motel owner, Jan-Barb Inc., headed by John Sassano.

Sassano was elected president of Jan-Barb last March, Holt said. Sassano replaced J.V. Burkett, who retired from the post he held since the formation of Jan-Barb, developers of Motel, built on what was known as Block 4, during St. Joseph's urban renewal program of the 1960's.

Holt said Sassano has been a Jan-Barb stockholder all along and Burkett is still a stockholder.

Sassano also owns the Cove restaurant in St. Joseph, is president of Sassano Inc., owner of Hilltop stores in the Twin Cities and Coloma.

Holt said the motel management change is effective next Monday, when Su-Am Inc., which formerly leased the restaurant and lounge from Jan-Barb, transfers its full-time operation to the Sir Quin Mar restaurant and lounge at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn, M-139.

Sue-Am since last April has operated jointly in both motels. Alvin Kelm is president of Su-Am.

The Benton Harbor Holiday Inn is owned by Mar-Kay Inc., headed by J.V. Burkett.

Changes at St. Joseph Holiday Inn include the hiring of Mrs. Eyleene Boozer as director of catering for private groups at the motel, Holt said, and a food and beverage director will be hired later.

Holt, 34, is a native of the Twin Cities, and has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Western Michigan University. He formerly was employed at Holiday Inns at Kalamazoo and Sturgis. Holt and his wife, Linda, live at 2188 Samuel Ave., Fairplain, and have three children.

Mrs. Boozer the past eight years was manager of Wyndwike Country Clubhouse. A native of Watertown, Wis., Mrs.

Boozer has resided in the Twin Cities for 22 years. Her husband, Thomas, heads the maintenance department of Consumers Asphalt and Concrete Co. They live at 2300 Thayer Dr., St. Joseph, and are the parents of two children.

National Group Elects Upton

David F. Upton, president of Southwestern Michigan Abstract and Title Co., St. Joseph, has been elected to the American Land Title Association Board of Governors.

Upton was one of five men elected to the board at the association's annual convention Oct. 12, 13, 14 in Washington, D.C.

ALTA members across the nation search, review and insure land titles to protect real estate investors including home buyers and mortgage lenders. Upton said nearly all title insurers are members of the association, along with the abstractors and title insurance agents from coast to coast.

Upton, a Michigan title man for 12 years, previously has served as a board member for the Michigan Land Title Association.

Before joining the title industry, Upton served in the Michigan House of Representatives, and held several management positions with Whirlpool Corporation.

He has been on the board of trustees for Memorial Hospital and Kalamazoo College. Upton, a graduate of the University of Michigan, was nominated twice by the Republican Party for the University's Board of Regents.

Upton currently serves as chairman of the Berrien County Community Mental Health

M.; Carliss Morris, chairman of the board, Stewart Title Guaranty Company, Houston, Tex.; and Joseph J. Hurley, president, The Title Insurance Company of Pennsylvania, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Spooky Party Fare For Halloween

Concoct Cookies

Dressing up is half the fun of Halloween. Dressing up party food can add to the excitement, too. Cookies cut in spooky shapes and decorated with a peanut butter frosting will melt the heart of a Dracula or Druselda Witch.

This sugar cookie is a good recipe to start using now and repeat all through the holidays. If you are having youngsters in for a party, let them decorate their own. Set out the baked cookies, a bowl of frosting and chocolate chips or licorice candy to cut and "paste" onto the frosting. Then see who can concoct a cookie that is the scariest of them all.

SUGAR COOKIES

Yield: 4 1/2 dozen cookies
One stick (one-half cup) margarine

One cup sugar
One egg
One tablespoon milk
One-half teaspoon vanilla
Two cups sifted flour
One teaspoon baking powder

Cream margarine and sugar. Add eggs, milk and vanilla and blend well. Sift flour and baking powder together. Add to margarine-sugar mixture and blend well. Chill dough one hour.

Roll to one-eighth-inch thickness on a lightly floured board of pastry cloth. Cut with a floured cookie cutter. Bake on a cookie sheet in a 375 degree oven for eight minutes. Cool. Frost with peanut butter frosting. Store in tightly covered container before or after frosting.

PEANUT BUTTER FROSTING

Two-thirds cup peanut butter
Three and three-fourths cups sifted powdered sugar
One-half cup milk
One and one-half teaspoons vanilla

Combine powdered sugar, milk and vanilla and beat well. Blend in peanut butter. Add more milk, if necessary, for spreading consistency.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers 'Fleece' Award Is Deserved

Dear Ann Landers: I recently read that Sen. William Proxmire from Wisconsin gave the Golden Fleece Award to the U.S. Postal Service for spending $3.4 million on an advertising campaign aimed at persuading Americans to write more letters. In case you don't know, the Golden Fleece Award is presented every month by Sen. Proxmire to make the public aware of the most ridiculous waste of the taxpayers' money.

Did you ever hear of anything so crazy as spending millions in an attempt to get people to write more letters? The U.S. Postal Service is in such a sorry state now that more letters would only make things worse. If the Postal Department is having such a tough time making ends meet, why don't they knock out Saturday deliveries? Are you with me? — Columbia, Tenn., Reader

Dear Reader: No. I wholeheartedly agree with Sen. Proxmire that the $3.4 million campaign to get people to write more letters is a bummer, but your suggestion that Saturday mail deliveries be discontinued is another bummer.

What people get on Saturday is Friday's mail. If we knocked out the Saturday delivery we would get Friday's mail on Tuesday because the double load would not be manageable on Monday. So, please — let's not encourage a change that will make a bad situation worse.

Son Decides

Dear Ann Landers: I am really furious at the mother-in-law who made a nationwide appeal through your column to her daughter-in-law to please let Sonny Boy spend one day alone with Mama as a birthday gift. She signed herself, "A Widow Who Knows." I realize an Ohio reader has already blown her top over this "Poor Little Me" suggestion. Now may I blow mine?

Doesn't "Widow" know that her son's feet are not nailed to the floor? If he wanted to spend a day with her he would do it.

Whenever we go to my mother-in-law's house she hands my husband a list of things that "need doing" before we even get out of the car. Then she nags him to "sit up straight" — "finish your supper" — "don't make crumbs" — as if he were six years old.

Any mother who wants to see more of her son should look not to her daughter-in-law, but to herself. — Saying It Again

Dear Saying: You and thousands of others — which convinces me that the daughters-in-law who wrote to blast the "gift suggestion" are on solid ground. You are right, girls. You can't give your husband a day with his mother. He must give it himself.

It Changed Her

Dear Ann Landers: I am a different person than I was last week. I never appreciated how wonderful it is to be alive until I felt a lump in my breast. I kept thinking, "What if it's the worst?"

I went to the doctor immediately, praying all the way. He did a biopsy. Thank God — no cancer. I now appreciate things I never noticed before. This may sound stupid but I'm glad I was scared into looking at life — Through Different Eyes.

Dear Diff: Your letter focuses on a common failing. So many of us have a tendency to take our blessings for granted. Thanks for the reminder. We can all use it.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Readers: In my column on dieting, last week, a typographical error resulted in a wrong telephone number. The correct number of the national headquarters of Overeaters Anonymous in Torrance, Calif., is (213) 320-7841.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Bless the woman who wrote you about the pain she was suffering from diverticulitis. I have had it for years. Four years ago I went into the hospital for X rays and a cure. I was put on a soft diet along with sulfa pills. It seemed to heal the colon, then about five months ago I started having this awful pain in the abdomen. I guess I was never free of it until I read your column about using cereals with fiber.

For three weeks now after I started using All-Bran I haven't felt any discomfort. I have a bowl every other morning with a banana or peach. It isn't easy to take as I've never liked cereals of any kind.

I am regular and normal in all respects. I can't thank you enough and will pass on the word to friends who have this trouble.

Also I wanted to thank you for The Health Letter you sent me on strokes. I read it to my husband who had one two years ago. He quit smoking and feels much more alert and better physically.

DEAR READER—I am glad to hear both you and your husband have improved. Several years ago when you were first evaluated for diverticulitis, those pesky pockets of the colon, the idea of using fiber or bulk for treatment was just beginning. The concepts of treatment of spastic colon, diverticulitis and related problems has undergone a drastic change since then. To give you a more complete appreciation of diverticulitis I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-6, Diverticulitis. Others who want information about this common problem can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10039.

DEAR DR. LAMB—You recommended that women past the menopause should get at least 1000 milligrams (1 gram) of calcium a day. I try to eat foods that contain a large amount of calcium but I am one of those who cannot tolerate dairy products. I'm 58, in the age group you mentioned, and I don't want to start having softening of the spine. I was diagnosed as having a spastic colon years ago and have a severe gas problem.

I am wondering if it is wise to take calcium with magnesium as a supplement. We have a water softener and I understand these chemicals are lost.

I am in a quandary about the supplement and had stopped taking them for fear I could be getting more than I need by taking three a day.

DEAR READER—There is nothing wrong with taking a calcium supplement. Some of the various preparations are irritating to the digestive system and others are not. A frequently overlooked source of advice on a good supplement preparation is your neighborhood pharmacist. He may be able to help you choose one that is good for you.

You wouldn't get enough calcium in your water, even without the softener to really solve your problem. You may find that you can use uncreamed cottage cheese. It contains far less lactose than ordinary milk and you may be able to build it into your diet without causing you to have digestive problems.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in 10 days before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

The Keeper Of Pins

The first and only time I was on a ski slope, I had the attention of every person within a two-mile radius.

It could have been my color-coordinated pants and jacket. It could have been by oversized goggles.

It could have been my knitted cap with the signature of a leading skier on it.

My husband seemed to think it was because I was the only woman on skis carrying a handbag.

I can't help it. Do men actually believe women enjoy lugging around a handbag everywhere they go? By the time everyone in the family unloads their stuff on me, I feel like an avian salesman.

I don't know when it all started, but somewhere in history someone decided women were the keeper of the nose tissue, fingernail clipper, breath sprays, band aids, change for restrooms, pins, hair spray, sticks for chapped lips, road maps, combs and scratch pads. I never see a film clip of Queen Elizabeth with that large handbag slung over her arm that I don't half expect to see Prince Phillip lean forward and say,

"Got any gum, Ducky?"

History was kinder to its women than they are nowadays. Did you see Joan of Arc carrying a Gucci to war? Did Pocahontas lug around a pouch to match her moccasins? And I don't know where Lady Godiva carried her credit cards, but it wasn't in a handbag. I would have noticed.

Believe me, there is nothing that detracts from a woman's aura of mystery and intrigue like wearing a black suede over-the-shoulder bag with a pale blue bathing suit.

I think it's time we women stopped carrying supplies for the entire family. If children don't have room to carry their own toys, if men don't have pockets in their pants, tougho.

Things are clearly out of control. I didn't mind rummaging through my bag for the ring at the wedding ceremony. I didn't raise my voice when I went to surgery with a tote bag over my chest. But the other day, I realized things had gone too far. My husband said, "These Life Savers are stuck together. Where did you have them?"

"When I went to the sauna."

"You didn't!"

In a rubber bridge game South would play dummy's four spot and be certain of his heart stopper, but this was match point duplicate and South did have a problem.

He knew he would be risking his contract if East held the ace of hearts, but would be sure of an important overtrick if West held it. So, he played dummy's king and was set two tricks.

We have no sympathy for South. In order for the low play to cost him that overtrick it was necessary first that East would hold the queen of hearts and second that East would shift to a spade.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader asks what is the penalty. He bids four notrump (Blackwood), partner responds five hearts, he bids five notrump and partner responds five diamonds by mistake.

VIOLIN REPAIR: William Moenning III puts final touches on violin he repaired in his shop in Philadelphia where he has staff of 18 people. Moenning feels that odds are greater than a million to one that anybody can find Stradivari violin at flea market. (AP Wirephoto)

It's Unlikely That Old Violin Is Strad

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The odds are greater than a million to one against finding a $250,000 Stradivari violin at a flea market.

"I would say probably not at all," said expert violin restorer William Moenning III, whose family has been in the musical instrument business since 1833. Yet almost every day, in scores of towns across America, someone believes that some old fiddle junked in the garage or attic, or dug out of the clutter of a second-hand store, is unexpected treasure.

What creates the dream of riches is a yellowed label inside the violin belly reading "Stradivarius" or "Cremona." Yet this is generally the sign of a fake, or acknowledgement it's only a copy of the real thing.

"In 99.9 per cent of the cases of violins with Strad labels there never was any intent to defraud the public," Moenning said.

"A 1910 Sears and Roebuck catalog offered an Antonio Stradivari label, a case, a bow and 60 pieces of music for $10. People who bought them knew they were getting just a trade instrument for their grandson, or child, or even for themselves," he said.

"The name Stradivari indicated the model that was being followed. It always caught everyone's imagination."

Moenning said people who copied Stradivari were obscure makers who crafted what he called "factory instruments" mainly for students.

Stradivari, considered the world's greatest violin maker, labored in Cremona, Italy, producing his best instruments in the first three decades of the 18th century. Scholars estimate he handcarved out of maple, spruce and poplar approximately 1,100 violins with sounds never equaled.

About half still exist, but the most valuable instruments are the few specimens left with all their original parts.

"They are all fairly well documented," Moenning said in his downtown shop where he has a staff of 17 men and one woman. "About two-thirds of the known Strads are in the United States, most owned by collectors or by the more prestigious professional violinists in the major orchestras. They are worth anywhere between $50,000 and $250,000 depending on their condition."

to a collector, but declined to disclose the price. When one comes into his possession he can spend as long as a year and many thousands of dollars to repair and restore it.

Hundreds of factory instruments are made today, and many makers copy Stradivari. The cheapest student outfit costs $175.

There are a few dozen expert violin makers in the United States, including Moenning and his semi-retired father. Moenning said they can put any price tag on their product, with top-notch instruments bringing as much as $7,500.

Moenning, busy now doing repairs on violins, violas and cellos for instrument owners all over America, last built a violin 15 years ago.

"It was used to win the Tchaikovsky competition in Russia," Moenning said.

Top Policewoman Files Bias Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's top woman police officer is filing a sex discrimination complaint with the federal government charging the police department denied her executive promotions because she is female.

Inspector Alice Hehn, 51, chief of the Professional Standards Section, said in the complaint filed Tuesday with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission that the department had passed her by while promoting less-qualified men.

"Women seem to be stuck at the bottom level of executives," said Ms. Hehn, a 23-year police veteran.

The Detroit Police Department has 10 deputy chiefs and 21 commanders, all male. Ms. Hehn is one of four women inspectors.

Police Chief William Hart said Tuesday that Ms. Hehn would be promoted when a commander's position opened that fit her qualifications.

Ms. Hehn said she decided to file the complaint after she sent Hart a registered letter outlining her concerns and did not get a reply.

Hart, who has promoted three of the current women inspectors into their rank, said he had not had time to answer the letter, but had set aside time in the future to meet with the inspector and discuss the issues raised by the letter.

Study Hints PBB Link With Ill Health In Kids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — PBB may be causing signs of deteriorating health in a group of rural Michigan children, says a University of Michigan researcher.

Mason Barr Jr., of the school's department of pediatrics, said Tuesday 35 per cent of the 343 children showed more symptoms of ill health than children on dairy farms in north central Wisconsin. The children's ages were two weeks to 16 years.

Barr's work studied the children's dietary habits from 1972 until last year. It was released at a seminar on PBB at Michigan State University.

A study released last fall on the parents of the 343 children was conducted by a team from the Mount Sinai School of Medicine's Environmental Sciences Laboratory, headed by Dr. Irving Selikoff.

Selikoff's study of 1,028 Michigan residents exposed to polychlorinated biphenyl supported earlier indications that the chemical caused health problems among dairy farmers in the state.

Barr's study did not find evidence of disease among the children, but it did find symptoms of nervous system disorders, muscle and skeletal changes and gastro-intestinal problems. All are symptoms associated with PBB contamination.

Of the 65 symptoms covered by a questionnaire, 36 were more common among the Michigan children. No symptom was more prevalent among the Wisconsin children than among the Michigan children, the report said.

The report said although the frequency of symptoms was similar in children from both states in 1972 and 1973, frequency rose dramatically among Michigan children during the past three years.

"There is evidence to suggest that PBB is a causative," Barr said. "But it's only a suggestion."

"An alternate hypothesis is that it (the difference between the Wisconsin and Michigan children) has nothing to do with PBB at all. But so far as we know, the PBB is the only difference between the two groups."

He said no conclusions could be drawn about the relation of PBB in the children's bodies to the amount of meat or milk they consumed until results of blood tests are analyzed later this year.

The most unexpected results showed that children on nonquarantined farms had more symptoms than those who lived where animals were isolated, Barr said.

"It's worrisome," he said. "This is contrary to what any of us expected, but this is a pure working hypothesis."

PBB was accidentally mixed with Michigan livestock feed during 1973 and distributed across the state, eventually working its way through the food chain.

ON LIBERTY'S BROW: Puerto Rican flag hangs from observation windows in head of 305-foot tall Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor Tuesday after 30 persons occupied it. They were demanding independence for Puerto Rico, and freedom for four jailed Puerto Rican nationalists still serving sentences for shooting of five U.S. congressmen in 1954. (AP Wirephoto)

Statue Occupiers Have Court Dates

NEW YORK (AP) — The Statue of Liberty again beckons the "huddled masses yearning to breathe free" — along with visitors to her New York harbor island — after a nine-hour occupation by 30 Puerto Rican nationalists.

The demonstrators, members of the New York Committee to Free the Puerto Rican Nationalist Prisoners, were to be arraigned today in U.S. District Court in Manhattan on charges of criminal trespass, U.S. Atty. Robert Fiske said. U.S. Park Police broke through a glass door in the statue's base at 8 p.m. Tuesday and captured the unarmed demonstrators, who were chanting, "Free Puerto Rico."

The occupation started shortly after 9 a.m. when the demonstrators arrived on Liberty Island on a sightseeing boat. They chased tourists and 80 school children from the statue and draped a large Puerto Rican flag across the front of the statue's crown. During a day of negotiations, the demonstrators rejected seven offers from federal negotiators.

Vincente Alba, speaking for the demonstrators at Battery Park on the tip of Manhattan, said the group was demanding independence for Puerto Rico, an end to discrimination against Puerto Ricans and release from prison for the four remaining Puerto Rican nationalists jailed in the 1954 shooting of five congressmen from the gallery of the House of Representatives.

The leader of that attack, Andres Figueroa Cordero, was granted clemency several weeks ago and returned to Puerto Rico because he is suffering from cancer. The demonstrators ignored a U.S. District Court order to leave the island. An offer to allow them to leave without prosecution was also refused. The demonstrators were brought ashore in three city police boats.

Senate Gives HHH A Hero's Welcome

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Hubert H. Humphrey, delighted with his hero's welcome in the Senate, vows he'll win his fight against cancer while becoming President Carter's congressional champion and confidant.

A five-minute standing ovation from the floor and galleries Tuesday marked the Minnesota Democrat's first appearance in the Senate since it was announced that his cancer is inoperable.

Frail but bouncy, Humphrey smiled and waved and scurried around the chamber, shaking hands with senators and page boys, embracing Vice President Walter F. Mondale and blowing kisses to his wife, Muriel.

"The greatest healing therapy is friendship and love, and all over this land I have sensed it," Humphrey told the Senate when the tumult faded.

Earlier, he told reporters gathered in his Senate office that his faith is unshaken.

"I know in my own case I've got to have absolute faith I can win my battle, or I can't win," said Humphrey whose struggle is reflected in his face and in the thinness of his body.

"Doctors can't win it for me," he said. "They can help. But they tell me, and it's absolutely true, I've got to win this fight. I've got to be sure that I can win it. And I do believe I can win it or I wouldn't be back here."

Energy Tax Break Foes Now Get Their Chance

By JIM LUTHER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the $40 billion, eight-year package of energy tax breaks recommended by the Senate Finance Committee are getting a chance to rewrite the bill to their liking.

A group of senators led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., wants the Senate to drop many of the tax breaks for businesses, as well as a proposed tax credit of up to $400 for individuals insulating their homes.

A vote on the first of Kennedy's amendments was possible today. The result would provide the first indication of whether the full Senate will accept the finance committee's approach to energy, which rewards conservation and production with tax cuts, instead of President Carter's plan to force fuel savings through higher taxes.

As the Senate began debate on the finance committee's bill Tuesday, Kennedy described it as a "bloated grab-bag of wasteful tax subsidies."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, compared it to a Christmas tree, with something for everybody.

And the chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said the bill spends so much money that it would jeopardize national goals of full employment and a balanced budget.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., meanwhile, is pushing an amendment that would restore a form of Carter's tax on fuel-inefficient cars. Under his proposal, by 1985 buyers of cars ruled at 21 to 26 miles per gallon would pay a tax of $200 to $1,200.

On Tuesday, the Senate-House conference committee, which is studying non-tax parts of the energy package while waiting for the Senate to finish work on the tax bill, refused 231 to accept a plan already passed by the Senate banning the manufacture of the most inefficient autos.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., predicted that Senate conferees will never accept the plan ofered by Carter and approved by the House, which would impose a stiff tax on cars that do not meet prescribed mileage standards. But Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., the conference committee chairman, said a compromise was still possible.

The tax on fuel-inefficient autos was one of the new taxes proposed by Carter and approved in a watered-down version by the House. The others included taxes on domestic crude oil, on industrial use of oil and natural gas and a standby increase in gasoline taxes.

The Senate Finance Committee rejected the entire package of taxes, however, voting to allow the series of tax breaks aimed largely at helping business pay the cost of converting their oil- and gas-fired equipment to coal or other fuels.

The finance committee bill also includes some tax incentives designed to make it more profitable for the energy industry to develop new sources of fuel.

Milliken Hopes To Avoid Election-Year Partisanship

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Keeping partisan politics out of the legislature during next year's gubernatorial race is possible, but it won't be easy, says Gov. William Milliken.

In an interview Tuesday, the Republican governor said he can continue working successfully with the Democratic-controlled legislature in 1978 even if he is the GOP's gubernatorial candidate.

But Milliken was quick to reiterate that he hasn't announced his intentions. "I honestly still haven't made up my mind," he said.

The options are unchanged: seek re-election, run for the U.S. Senate or retire.

"I think the assumption by others at this point is that I'm going to run again," he said. Milliken added that he will make an announcement within the next 30 days.

If he runs again, he said, rapport with Democratic legislative leaders shouldn't break down despite their support of his opponent.

"There are enough legislators and leaders in both houses who want to work together. We've done it in the past. We've been able to play down the hot partisanship," Milliken said.

Milliken said his long-standing good relationship with lawmakers wasn't damaged by his recent — and uncharacteristic — criticism.

Departing from his typical mild-mannered approach, the governor lambasted the legislature and a half-dozen GOP House members during a two-day burst of exhortation. He called the legislature irresponsible for failing to pass a state police budget and vowed he wouldn't forget the six Republicans who voted to override his veto of an administrative procedures bill.

The governor said if he remains in politics, "there are going to be a lot of very difficult issues in 1978."

Without hesitating, he cited the PBB contamination of livestock in 1973 as the issue most likely to become the Democrats' strong ax.

Milliken will meet with U.S. Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee in Washington on Thursday to talk about the governor's political future. But no inference can be drawn that he's now leaning toward a bid for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Republican Robert Griffin, Milliken cautioned.

However, the two Republicans will "talk about the Senate next year and what the climate will be. I certainly haven't discarded that idea, nor have I embraced it."

Baker has emerged since the Watergate hearings as a prime GOP presidential candidate in 1980.

Although Milliken has strong differences with conservative Republicans, he plays down their influence in setting party policy or taking over GOP campaigns. And he sees hope for improving the GOP's position with a positive, progressive Republican program.

"The Democratic party has no monopoly on real power," he said.

Milliken remained non-committal on whether he'd keep Lt. Gov. James Damman on the ticket if he ran again. But he praised Damman's work.

Both Republicans and Democrats have been pressuring the governor to announce his decision so prospective candidates can decide what they'll do. They won't have to wait much longer.

GOV. MILLIKEN
Mind's Not Made Up

Economy Seen As Big Issue

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's economy should be the key issue in next year's election, say the four candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Meeting Tuesday for their first debate were two state senators, a professor at Michigan State University and a former member of the Public Service Commission who have declared themselves candidates for governor.

"The primary issue is the economy of the state and the impact it has on our social issues," said Zoltan Ferency, a professor of political science at Michigan State University. He has made past unsuccessful runs for the office on the Human Rights Party ticket.

His statement was echoed by Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, Sen. William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, and former Public Service Commissioner William Ralls.

"People are concerned about job development and crime, and the problems have been allowed to fester too long," said McCollough. He said he wants to be governor "because that's where the power is."

Fitzgerald said that "while clearly the biggest challenge will be the preservation of our job base, Michigan needs a stronger leader than we have had under Gov. Milliken."

Ralls also took the opportunity to lash out at Milliken, a Republican. "We need new leadership to deal with the problems of education, crime and taxation reform," he said.

Ralls, McCollough and Ferency said they favored the use of state Medicaid funds for abortions, although McCollough and Ralls said they personally opposed abortion.

Fitzgerald said he opposes using state funds for abortions because "I have traditionally supported the rights of the unborn, and it's my belief that a person's right to life is preeminent."

All four candidates oppose eliminating bail for repeat criminal offenders, a proposal being touted by several law-and-order spokesmen across the state.

"The only way to deal with the subject would be to amend the U.S. Constitution, which clearly provides for reasonable bail," Ferency said.

The four did not agree on ways to eliminate the state's fiscal ills. Ralls and Ferency said a tax increase may be the only way to cure the state's money problems, while McCollough said the state should first try to cut spending.

Fitzgerald said the state "is so disadvantaged in return of federal dollars to the state that it's an insult."

Three of the candidates said they favored raising the state's drinking age from 18 to 21. Only Ferency said he is against such a move.

"People who abuse alcohol aren't concerned about their age," Ferency said.

Ford Hunts First Models

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — At least 55 of the first Model A's — Henry Ford's lightweight, crude entry into the world of automobiles — are alive and well 75 years after they were made, says Ford Motor Co.

The automaker said Tuesday it is searching for surviving vehicles for a 75th anniversary celebration next spring.

The company was formed in the summer of 1903. The Model A runabout, built soon after, weighed 1,250 pounds and had a two-cylinder engine. On good roads, it could race to 30 miles an hour.

Ford built 1,708 of the 1903 Model A cars. Company officials said they hope to turn up more of the elderly contraptions by next spring.

SURGERY: Comedienne Totie Fields, 46, who left leg was amputated last year, underwent surgery in Los Angeles Tuesday for removal of her right breast after doctors discovered a small malignant tumor, her agent said. ENFORCEMENT TOUGH
WASHINGTON (AP) — A government official says it will be "quite a difficult task" to enforce a ban on bowhead whale hunting, despite increased police patrols along the Arctic Coast this spring.

Cass Rejects Tax Cut Plea; Adopts Budget

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass County Board of Commissioners Tuesday night rejected an appeal for a property tax levy reduction in adopting a 1978 budget of $3,472,514.

Board Chairman Herman Saltz of Cassopolis said board members had considered lowering the county's 5.75 mill tax levy but decided instead to try and offer better services, higher pay for employees and more work on county parks.

"These are things the county has not been able to do before," Saltz told the board and those attending the meeting at the courthouse.

The 1978 budget, up by $1,179,423 over the 1977 budget of $2,293,091, was adopted by a 7-4 board vote.

Three Face Pot Ring Charges

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Pleas of innocent are being entered for three persons accused of participating in an international marijuana smuggling ring.

Standing mute at their federal court arraignments Tuesday were William Hatfield, 53, of Constantine; Beth Ann Neff, 26, of Menden; and Michael Neff, 30, of Anchorage, Alaska. U.S. Magistrate Stephen Karr entered the innocent pleas for the three defendants.

A federal grand jury indicted them on charges of possessing controlled substances with intent to deliver. Michael Neff also was charged with conspiracy.

The trio and Fred Meyerhoffer, 31, of St. Petersburg, Fla., were arrested in early October after raids in St. Joseph and Kalamazoo counties where officers confiscated 5,000 pounds of marijuana.

Officers said the marijuana, which they estimated was worth $1.25 million, was smuggled from South America to Clearwater, Fla., before being brought to the Kalamazoo area for distribution.

Authorities said Meyerhoffer may be arraigned in Florida.

Pileup Of 5 Vehicles Injures 8

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — A five-vehicle pileup at a fog-shrouded intersection injured at least eight migrant workers today.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies said an old school bus carrying migrant workers collided with a truck before two other cars and a pickup truck piled into the wreckage.

Deputies said the injured were sent to Holland Hospital although none appeared to be hurt severely. Authorities reported the bus was owned by Zelenka Evergreen Nursery Inc. of Grand Haven.

Stickup Suspect In Court

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon man is charged with the holdup of a Grand Rapids bank, but police still seek another man who held up another bank in the city the previous day.

Stanley Cunningham, 24, demanded examination on a charge of robbing an Old Kent branch on the city's northeast side Tuesday. His federal court examination was set for Nov. 3 and he was held on $25,000 bond. Police said they arrested Cunningham at a parking ramp within blocks of the bank less than an hour after the holdup. The loot was recovered. Estimates of the amount taken ranged from $1,100 to $1,500. Police evacuated hundreds of students from Grand Rapids Junior College after a report the robber was in the school. After 30 minutes without any sign of the gunman on campus, students returned to classes. No one would say how much was taken in Monday's holdup at a Union Bank branch less than two miles from Tuesday's robbery scene. In the Union Bank case an athletic bandit vaulted a bank counter and cleaned out at least three cash drawers.

Lawmaker Spearheads Drive

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A conservative Michigan lawmaker is spearheading the state's part in a nationwide 50-day campaign against ratification of the Panama Canal treaty. Rep. Kirby Holmes, R-Utica, is regional director of the Conservative Caucus, Inc., for Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin. The caucus is a national lobbying organization which claims 250,000 members. Holmes said Monday that a "Canal Day" will be held Nov. 3, with a rally at Kennedy Square in Detroit. Brief talks by the commanders of various veterans organizations are planned. U.S. Sen. Don Riegle and Robert Griffin have been asked by Kirby to be in their local offices to receive petitions from the group. Rallies also have been scheduled for Nov. 29 in Indiana and Nov. 30 in Wisconsin.

Bureaucrat Pays Self $66,000

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A financial document filed by Donald Boyd to show how he accounted for $1 million in federal money indicates he apparently paid himself $66,375 as a consultant.

At the time, Boyd was drawing an annual salary of $18,000 as head of the Duluth Area Economic Development Office and the Northern Minnesota Regional Economic Development Center.

The FBI is investigating allegations of possible misuse of up to $1 million in federal grants that went to Boyd through the Great Lakes Regional Economic Development Commission.

The document filed by Boyd showed that the Duluth Area Economic Development Office spent $247,500 from Jan. 1, 1974, to Dec. 31, 1976. Disbursements included a $66,375 consulting fee to the director, which apparently was Boyd.

Erni Maroltzke, head of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission's Minnesota office, was in St. Paul Tuesday to discuss state funding of Boyd's agencies with Gov. Rudy Perich.

Israel Not An N-Power

DETROIT (AP) — Israel has no nuclear arsenal despite published reports to the contrary, says former Israel Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

"I can tell you that Israel is not a nuclear power and won't be the first ones to introduce nuclear weapons in Arab-Israeli relations," Rabin, who was meeting with leaders of the Jewish Welfare Federation of Metropolitan Detroit, said Tuesday.

A recent article in Rolling Stone magazine charged that Israeli agents hijacked bombgrade uranium shipments in the late 1960s in both Britain and France.

Rabin, who was Israel's prime minister from 1974 until last June and is a leader of the Israel Labor Party, said he was optimistic about the future of American-Israeli relations.

"I believe there's a solid basis for understanding between the two and this is essential if we are to encourage peace," Rabin said.

School Secretaries Join Picket Lines

Benton Harbor Area Schools secretaries have joined teachers on picket lines after working hours, and both groups plan a joint protest during the board of education budget hearing, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Thursday, at the senior high school Student Commons.

No strike has been called, and classes were reported being held today with teachers and secretaries on their jobs.

The protest against unsettled contracts is to be orderly, according to Richard Russell, chairman of the internal public relations committee of the Benton Harbor Education Association, representing teachers, and Nona Rauh, president of the Benton Harbor Secretaries Association.

Secretaries voted in August to join the Michigan Education Associates Organization, an affiliate of the Michigan Education Association. The Benton Harbor Education Association is a chapter of the MEA.

The protest schedule calls for teachers and secretaries to assemble at 6 p.m. in the parking lot behind the school and hold a silent vigil at 6:15 p.m., while wearing arm bands of orange and black, the school colors. The group plans to enter the meeting silently at 6:30 p.m., sing "We Shall Overcome" at the end of the meeting, and then turn on flashlights, covered with red paper. A procession around the school with flashlights is planned after adjournment.

The school reported that the board plans to act on the new operating budget at a special meeting that will immediately follow the public hearing.

Mike Schroeder, chief bargaining representative for both teachers and secretaries said secretaries are joining teachers on the picket line at the school administration center, 711 E. Brinley Ave. as "a cooperative effort to gain support for contractual settlements." Schroeder said secretaries have been working without a contract since Oct. 7. The master teacher contract expired Aug. 25.

Schroeder said unsettled issues of secretaries closely parallel those of teachers. He listed sick leave provisions, working hours, grievance procedure, payroll deductions and salary and fringe benefits. Schroeder said picketing is after working hours. Expired contracts include a two-year pact with the district's some 500 teachers and a three-year pact with some 87 secretaries.

Schroeder, speaking for secretaries, said today: "Most of the unresolved issues are the result of board attempts to take away existing benefits and protections. We are sick and tired of seeing a Kalamazoo attorney being paid thousands of dollars to say 'No,' when secretaries are asking for so little and having to fight to keep what they already have."

SJ Man Survives

A 24-year-old St. Joseph man escaped serious injury Tuesday night when the auto he was driving went out of control on wet pavement and struck a tree broadside, according to St. Joseph Township police.

Pauline Ross Bates said David Geoffrey Root, 24, of 483 E. Upton Dr., sought his own treatment for cuts on his face and hands sustained in the 8:55 p.m. accident on Lake Shore Drive north of Shoreham Road.

Bates said car was nearly torn in half and the driver thrown from the wreckage. Bates reported he ticketed Root for driving too fast for conditions and for operating the auto without license plates. Rain was falling at the time of the accident, Bates said.

Fall Run Makes Berrien Springs Salmon 'Hot Spot'

DAM GOOD FISHING: Anglers line fishing hole on St. Joseph River below dam at Berrien Springs. They are after salmon, which are on fall spawning run and congregate below the dam. Berrien Springs is a fishing "hot spot" and annually attracts thousands of midwest fishermen. A fish ladder on the dam moves some of the fish up to Buchanan. And the Department of Natural Resources is planning a passage on the Buchanan dam to get fish upstream to Niles and into the Dowagiac River. (Staff photos)

CHINOOK CATCH: Fisherman proudly holds up chinook salmon taken below Berrien Springs dam. Chinook are largest of the fish caught there on the St. Joseph River, with many going over 30 pounds. Many are snagged in designated area between dam and US 31-33 bridge, but fish are also taken on spawn and artificial baits.

THEY CAME PREPARED: Out-of-state sportsmen work on gear on tailgate of pickup at parking area near Berrien Springs dam. Many come for the weekend, as evidenced by tent, stove and truck load of equipment. Fishermen crowd St. Joseph River below the dam each fall while trying to catch salmon, steelhead, brown trout and lake trout.

Gobles Pair Are Not Leaving

Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Horton of Gobles are not moving out of southwestern Michigan as erroneously stated by Lake Michigan College in a news release on Mrs. Horton's resignation from the LMC faculty, according to Dr. Walter F. Browne, LMC executive vice president.

Dr. Browne said Mrs. Horton has indicated she resigned for personal reasons. Dr. Horton, a dentist, will continue to be located in Gobles. He served as a consultant to LMC several years ago when the college established its dental assisting program.

The error occurred in the college news release announcing the appointment of Sheran Wallis of St. Joseph to take Mrs. Horton's place on the LMC faculty as instructor in dental assisting, Dr. Browne said. It was reported in the Oct. 13 edition of The Herald-Palladium.

Juvenile Judge Calls Television 'Plug-In Drug'

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Why do juvenile offenders tend to be arrogant now, when 15 years ago they most likely were remorseful?

Joseph N. Sorrentino, 39, a judge pro tem of Los Angeles Municipal Court and former juvenile court referee, listed these reasons in an address Tuesday to the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan:

Drugs; television, which Sorrentino called the "plug-in drug;" newspapers and movies that glamorize crime; permissive judges and plea bargaining; scandals in government, and broken families.

Sorrentino said he has experienced the faults of the juvenile justice system in his rise from delinquency to a judgeship. He spoke at the Economic Club's meeting at Damada Inn, Benton Township.

Sorrentino said he grew up in Brooklyn and as a member of the Condors, a street gang, he saw how press coverage of gang fights stirred more gang violence.

At 16, serving time in a New York City reformatory, he got a firsthand look at how some juvenile facilities are "a

Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors and other health care providers face greater penalties for Medicare and Medicaid fraud under legislation signed by President Carter.

The law signed Tuesday makes felonies out of most fraudulent acts formerly classed as misdemeanors.

disgrace to civilization."

After serving a sentence for assault, he joined the Marine Corps. "Within a week I was getting into trouble." Two Marine Corps psychiatrists who "worked on" Sorrentino symbolized for him the prevailing theories about criminals, he said.

One psychiatrist believed that if any man breaks the law, that man must be sick. The other said "you have free will, and if you break the law you must pay dearly," according to Sorrentino.

He was finally labeled "unregenerate," incapable of being reformed, and at age 16 he was thrown out of the Marines, he said.

After more bumbling around, he said he found himself living in the city's Bowery among "men with scars and bruises on their faces, red with wine."

An "impulse" to sign up for a night school led to graduation from the University of California, re-enlistment in the Marines to clean his record and, eventually, graduation from Harvard Law School as class valedictorian.

Through these years he said he learned that "the price you have to pay" for success is hard work. Youngsters today "want instant success," he observed.

His two years as a juvenile court referee in Los Angeles showed him that "to put a kid away (in a juvenile home) for three months or six months is a waste of the taxpayers' money."

He believes juvenile homes should have "a manageable number of kids" rather than the frequent overcrowding that now occurs. Kids should be kept for a "decent period of time" and should get "one-on-one caring," he said.

JOSEPH SORRENTINO Went through 'system'

Other observations made by Sorrentino included:

— Half of the felonies in the United States are committed by juveniles.

— He "doesn't buy" the defense made on behalf of a boy at a recent trial who claimed violent television shows caused him to commit murder. Yet he believes that the glorification of criminals by the media is harmful to youngsters.

— "Seventy percent of the juveniles in court come from ruptured families." Society wrongly expects the juvenile court and the police to solve problems that families should be solving.

— Although he used to think capital punishment was "barbaric," now he believes "the crime level has become so severe that I think it has to be used."

— Offenders "trample on the appeasement" they get from "oversolicitous, indulgent courts." Only one in 100 juveniles is detained after being caught the first time for breaking the law.

Off-Road Vehicle Ban In Preserve Paying Off, Grand Mere Group Told

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Members of the Grand Mere Association last night heard an optimistic report on enforcement this year against off-road vehicles in the nature preserve along Lake Michigan west of Stevensville.

The enforcement was ordered in May by the Lincoln Township trustees and centered in the 400-acre tract owned by the state and an adjoining 22 acres owned by the Grand Mere Association. It followed a report in April that off-road vehicles were destroying dunes and plants. Police, over three following weekends issued 182 tickets to drivers of off-road vehicles.

Dieter Brunschweiler, a professor of geography at Michigan State University, told some 80 Association members at their 12th annual dinner meeting that he recently inspected the Grand Mere area briefly and found signs that it is returning to its natural state. Brunschweiler indicated that a more detailed inspection is to be made, but from all appearances the enforcement has proved beneficial.

The use of off-road vehicles is prohibited in the state-owned tract, but not in areas privately owned. However, two of the largest private owners—Russell Menley and Victor Peters—permitted the posting of "no trespassing" signs on their property.

In April, Brunschweiler said damage was shown in aerial and satellite photographs obtained in a remote sensing project partially funded by the National Aeronautics Administration. He was joined then by Gary Schultink, a native of the Netherlands who was studying at MSU for a doctorate in resource development.

Schultink reported that in two areas studied, vegetation would be destroyed by off-road vehicles by 8.3 and 33.5 years, respectively.

During last night's meeting at Tobi's restaurant, Association President Edward Ketterer said increased use of the preserve's walking trails will be encouraged through plans to be developed by a naturalist.

Ketterer said Richard Schinkel, of Oronoko Township has been hired by the association to spearhead the project through educational slide presentations and a brochure. Schinkel also is a naturalist at Sarett Nature Center. Schinkel showed slides of Grand Mere.

Ketterer said the association also will continue toward a major goal—eventual state ownership of all 1,200 acres in the Grand Mere area.

During the business meeting, members elected four new directors and re-elected three others, all for two-year terms. New directors are Carolyn Dor-

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Oct. 21 were:

SENATE
Mandatory Retirement — By an 88-7 vote, the Senate passed a bill to raise the age at which most workers can be forced to retire from 65 to 70. The vote was on a bill to add five years to the existing statutory ban on age discrimination in the workplace.

Supporters of raising the mandatory retirement age argued that decisions on retaining older employees should be based on competence rather than age. Age discrimination should be no more legal than discrimination based on race or sex, they said.

Opponents maintained that fixed-age retirement at 65 allowed older workers to retire with dignity, and opened up more job opportunities for younger workers, women and minorities.

The House has passed a similar bill that also eliminated altogether the age at which most civilian federal workers could be forced to retire.

The legislation now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to resolve differences.

Voting to raise permissible mandatory retirement age to 70: Riegle (D).

Voting not to raise retirement age: Griffin (R).

Welfare Payments — By a 61-21 vote, the Senate agreed to allow welfare recipients to retain most of the control they now have over how they spend their government checks.

The vote deleted a provision from a bill that could have channeled up to 50 percent of a recipient's monthly check directly to landlords and utility companies. It would have allowed welfare agencies at the request of the welfare recipient to write out two-party checks to the recipient and his landlord, for example. Both parties would have to sign the check in order to cash it.

Proponents of deleting the provision argued that landlords could coerce welfare recipients by refusing to rent to them unless they agreed to a "voluntary" two-party check arrangement. And tenants would lose their ability to withhold rent from landlords to force them to keep up buildings and make repairs, they said.

Opponents of deleting the provision said it would guarantee landlords their money and would therefore cut down the number of inner city buildings abandoned because rents aren't collected. As a result, more housing would be available to welfare recipients, they said.

Voting to delete two-party welfare check provision: Riegle (D).

Voting not to delete provision: Griffin (R).

HOUSE

Cargo Preference — By a 185-257 vote, the House defeated a bill that would have guaranteed U.S. flagships a 9.5 percent share of American oil imports.

Supporters of the cargo preference bill said only about 3 percent of the nation's oil imports are currently carried here in U.S. ships and that guaranteeing U.S. ships more oil cargoes would provide more jobs for the troubled merchant marine industry. National security would also be improved by assuring there would be ships to carry oil imports in time of emergency, they said.

Opponents argued that the bill would actually create a net loss of employment and would violate U.S. treaties with other NATO countries. They said the use of more U.S. ships, which are more expensive to operate than foreign flagships, would result in high oil prices for consumers and do little for national security.

Voting for oil cargo preference bill: Blanchard (D), Wright (Majority Leader).

Voting against oil cargo preference bill: Brown (R), Conyers (D), Stockman (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

B-1 Bomber — By a 194-204 vote, the House rejected a move to restore $1.4 billion for production of five B-1 bombers in fiscal 1978. The vote was on an amendment to a bill providing supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year that began Oct. 1.

Supporters of restoring B-1 funds argued that the B-1 was needed to modernize U.S. strategic forces and that the U.S. should not abandon production of the B-1 without demanding reciprocal cutbacks from the Soviet Union. They also said that the latest administration initiative in the arms limitations negotiations with the Soviet Union reaffirmed the need for a weapons system capable of penetrating Soviet defenses and undercut President Carter's earlier reasons for abandoning the B-1.

Opponents of restoring B-1 funds argued that at $100 million each the B-1 would be the most expensive weapons system ever produced and that United States' defense needs would be served better by developing cruise missiles that can be carried by existing B-52 bombers.

Voting to restore B-1 funds: Brown (R), Stockman (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting not to restore B-1 funds: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), Wright (Majority Leader).

Paired for restoring B-1 funds: Vander Jagt (R).

America's Skateboard Injuries Skyrocketing

By LARRY MARGARAK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — More people will be injured riding skateboards this year than playing scholastic, collegiate and backyard football, a new federal study discloses. The Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates 275,000 people will be injured in skateboard accidents in 1977, compared to some 270,000 in all the non-professional football games in the country. An unreleased report based on the study predicts that the number of skateboard injuries will be more than double last year's 130,000.

A commission official said no other product under its jurisdiction has shown such a dramatic growth in the number of injuries associated with it.

William Kitzes, the agency's program manager for sports and recreation, said only bicycles will account for more injuries this year. There are about 50 million bicycle riders, compared to 20 million skateboarders.

Kitzes said in a telephone interview Tuesday night that more than 25 per cent of all skateboard accidents occur the first day of use.

He said the skateboard report, which will not be finished until next month, shows that only 2 per cent of the injuries result from defects in the skateboards.

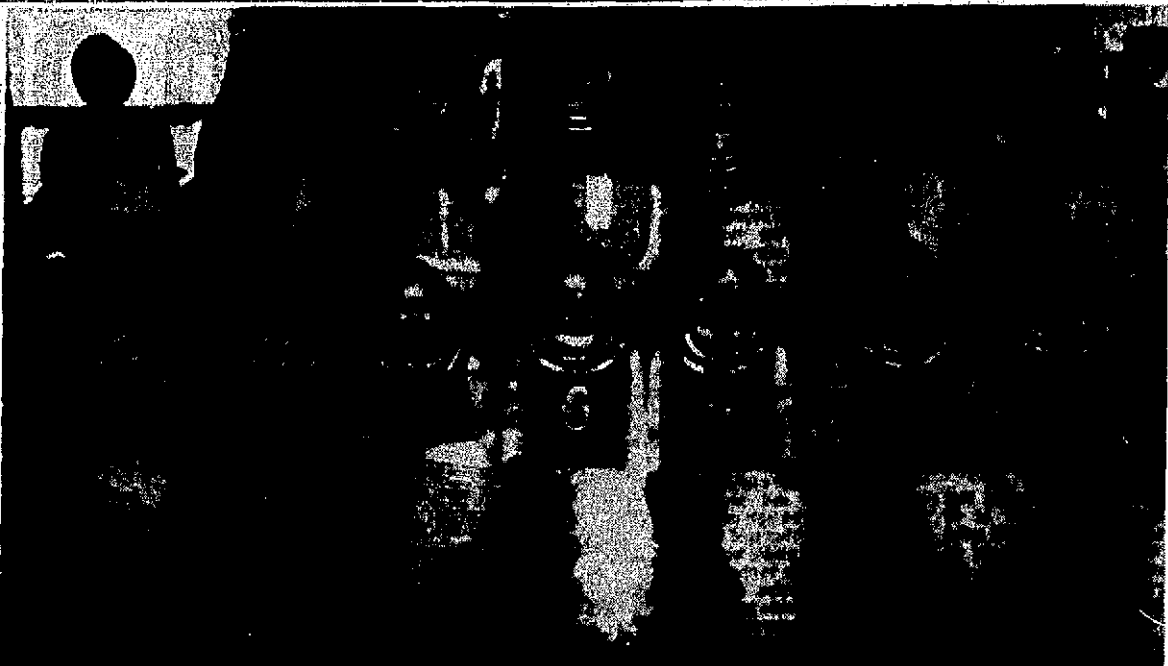

Most injuries come from skaters' inexperience or such problems as potholes.

About 40 per cent of those hurt go to hospital emergency rooms, he said.

Of those treated, 30 per cent break an arm or leg and 24 per cent have cuts and bruises, while strains and sprains account for 18 per cent.

The commission previously reported there were 13 skateboard deaths between 1973 and last April.

The number of skateboards has grown from about 14 million in 1975 to 20 million in 1976, the commission said.

Auto Sales Higher

DETROIT (AP) — Mid-October domestic auto sales climbed nearly 17 percent over last year's numbers, which were dampened by the United Auto Workers strike at Ford Motor Co. The Big Four companies said they delivered 291,666 autos from Oct. 11 to Oct. 20, compared with 248,911 for the same period in 1976. The daily rate, the industry's yardstick for figuring sales, was 32,406 this year against 27,788 last year. There were nine selling days in both periods. The rate, in line with analysts' predictions, reflected sales of both new and 1977 models. Most of the '77s were introduced in early October, when the industry sold 33,418 a day. Mid-month sales, the fourth best for the period, were far below the record 37,148 set in 1971.

Skid Suit Ruling Tops $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — A jury has awarded $1.25 million to the estate of a Lansing-area woman who bought a $300 skid-prevention device and later died from injuries suffered in a car crash.

The Wayne County jury award Tuesday was made against Safety Auto Control Inc. of Nevada, the device's manufacturer, and Allstate Safety Control Inc., of Texas, the distributor.

Attorneys for the family of Dorothy M. Esch charged the firms with breach of warranty. Mrs. Esch died of injuries suffered in the 1970 crash after spending the next five years in hospitals, nursing homes and mental institutions.

The jury also awarded $600,000 to Mrs. Esch's 36-year-old husband, Barnard, and $180,000 to her 18-year-old son Lee Curtis Esch. Both were injured in the crash.

The Esch's lawyers, T.L. Majors and Peter Cichnell of Saginaw, said Mrs. Esch was driving northbound on Interstate 75 near Dayton, Ohio, when she lost control of the car on the rain-slicked road.

The attorneys said the anti-skid device was an oblong piece of iron about 30 inches long weighing about 50 pounds. They said the user was directed to bolt the device to the metal floor at the base of the trunk.

EFFICIENT SEDANS: Long-standing Mercedes-Benz philosophy of maximum usable interior space with compact exterior dimensions is embodied in intermediate sedan line. Detectors Will Check Treats

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police in Clinton Township and several other Michigan communities will use metal detectors again this Halloween to protect youngsters from pins, razors or other hidden tricks in their treats. Officials in the township near Mount Clemens said Tuesday they will be available at two locations Oct. 31 to inspect candy for foreign objects. Sgt. Donald Steckman said that until 1976, when police first used the devices, at least one Clinton Township child had been injured by loaded candy every year since 1968. No injuries were reported last year. "That alone made it all worthwhile," Steckman said. Township police examined more than 1,800 bags of candy last year and found at least six pieces containing foreign objects, including straight pins and parts of razor blades, he added.

In Detroit, all 42 police mini-stations, some equipped with metal detectors, will be open until midnight Monday to handle Halloween problems. Washtenaw County, as well as the Detroit suburbs of Ferndale, Westland, Southfield, Lincoln Park and Farmington Hills, will have authorities checking candy with metal detectors. Officials advised parents to make sure their children cut into fruit before eating it and not let the youngsters go trick-or-treating alone.

Dad's Sports Pressure Triggered Killing Of 4?

BRUNSWICK, Ohio (AP) — Michael Swihart jogs every day and lifts weights, say friends. But that may not have been enough for his father, whose heavy emphasis on sports reportedly touched off an argument that preceded his blood-thirsty death and those of his wife and two other sons.

Michael, an 18-year-old college freshman, has been charged with aggravated murder in the slayings of his father, Donald, 41; his mother, Sue; and brothers Brian, 16, and Russell, 9.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that police sources said the killings followed a confrontation between the elder Swihart and Michael.

Swihart had encouraged his sons to participate in sports, the newspaper reported. The Plain Dealer said father and son argued in the family room of the Swihart house Sunday night.

Michael told police his father stood before him with a baseball bat in his hands and asked his son if he thought he would ever learn to use "one of these," the newspaper reported.

Michael reportedly said yes, took the bat from his father and struck him with it, the Plain Dealer said.

Michael allegedly beat his parents and brothers either to death or into unconsciousness with the bat, poured gasoline on the bodies and lit a match, the newspaper reported.

County Prosecutor Roger Ingraham said the blast literally blew Michael out of the house. He was uninjured, but limbs are not complete. Autopsies are not complete. But Medina County Coroner Andrew Karsen said all the bodies bore head injuries.

"If you ask me, Michael did not do it," said Richard Wilson, 18, who lives across a dormitory hall from Michael on the Miami University campus in Oxford, Ohio.

"He really loved his family. He was very proud of his little brother," added Wilson, who drove back to Oxford with Michael on Sunday. Wilson said Michael seemed calm during the drive.

"He was really a great person, one of the nicest people I've ever met in my life," Wilson said. "He was generous and considerate of everybody else's feelings."

A neighbor, Gary Reffert, 15, recalled an incident between Michael and his father last fall, shortly after Michael refused to go out for the high school football team.

Reffert said the elder Swihart was losing a football with Brian when Michael tried to join in. Reffert quoted the father as saying: "Michael, you get out of here. I don't want to throw the football to you. You go play with the first graders."

Halloween Party Monday In Coloma

COLOMA — The Coloma Downtown Merchants' Association and the city of Coloma are jointly sponsoring a Halloween night party for children 12 and under.

The party next Monday night begins at 6:30 with a parade from Bad's Square to Baker Park where there will be prizes for costumes, bags of candy and a ballpoint pen for each parade participant.

A spokesman said it is hoped that youngsters will attend the party rather than going trick or treating.

Co-chairwomen for the event are Mrs. Barbara Carruthers and Mrs. Lila Fox. They are being assisted by Gene Rennhack of the merchants' association.

Vote Delayed On Hospital Plan

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is delaying until next year votes on President Carter's plan to hold down increases in hospital bills amid charges from one critic that Carter has not pushed the issue strongly enough.

The administration unveiled its proposal last April and had hoped to get it through Congress by Oct. 1. But since then the bill has made its way through only one of four congressional committees that must consider it. Congressional sources say there now is no chance for a vote in either the House or Senate before adjournment for the year.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the proposal's leading supporter on Capitol Hill, is critical of Carter for what he calls Carter's failure to sell the plan to Congress.

Carter has left the lobbying effort chiefly to Joseph A. Califano Jr., the secretary of health, education and welfare. But Kennedy contends the President should have taken a more visible stand on the issue, as he has done on his energy package.

For such a complex issue, with vocal vested interests opposing the bill, a strong educational effort throughout the country and with the Congress is essential, Kennedy said in a recent speech.

Meanwhile, according to administration estimates, consumers were expected to pay an extra $750 million in hospital bills in the last three months of the year and face even higher payments next year.

The federal budget for the current fiscal year, which began Oct. 1, had assumed a slower rise in hospital costs for the government's Medicare and Medicaid programs than has been the case.

The Carter proposal is to limit the cost increases for hospitals in the general inflation rate, plus a 3 per cent allowance for technological improvement. This formula would allow annual cost increases of about 9 per cent, instead of the 15 per cent of recent years.

The Congressional Budget Office has estimated the nation would save more than $40 billion in the next five years under the administration plan.

But the American Medical Association and other medical groups have opposed the bill, saying it would reduce the quality of health care. The administration says unnecessary costs can be trimmed while keeping quality care.

Well Fire Kills 3

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — Three workers dangling helplessly in a basket above an oil well were burned to death when the well exploded, forcing officials early today to send for famed oil fire fighter Red Adair.

The blaze at the sprawling Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve, the nation's largest reserve (outside Alaska), began Tuesday with an explosion deep inside the 7,000-foot well. A geyser of oil and flames spewed more than 100 feet into the air.

The blast blew the three men out of their suspended basket and hurled them more than 50 feet from the oil rig, said Kern County Fire Department Capt. Ron Marshall.

"One man got up and tried to run, but he collapsed after about 125 feet," said Marshall. "All their clothes were burned off. Two of them still were wearing their heavy work boots."

Wary oil field crews from this tiny town 140 miles north of Los Angeles worked today to assemble eight to ten 500-barrel water tanks near the well for Adair's Houston-based crew.

"We're pouring 900 gallons of water a minute onto the flames, but there's no way they can shut off the flow of oil so they're letting it burn," said Marshall.

"Even if they were able to get in, they believe the control devices to shut it off were destroyed in the explosion and fire."

German Tourist To See Frisco

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — Erwin Kreuz will visit San Francisco. Really, San Francisco.

Kreuz is the West German tourist who got off a chartered plane when it stopped for fuel in Bangor Oct. 7. Believing he was in San Francisco, he wandered about town for four days before learning that he was on the wrong coast.

Kreuz accepted an invitation Tuesday by The San Francisco Examiner to fly him and an interpreter to the West Coast on Friday.

The 50-year-old brewery worker plans to head back home to Augsburg, West Germany, on Monday.

Examiner City Editor Jim Willse said the newspaper planned to put Kreuz and his interpreter up with a family that speaks German.

"We thought it would be a shame if Mr. Kreuz went back to Europe without seeing San Francisco," Willse said. He said the trip would cost the newspaper about $1,000.

Kreuz, who speaks no English, said during the first few days, he thought he was in a suburb of San Francisco, and when he dined in one of Bangor's two Chinese restaurants, it reinforced his belief. He said he had seen pictures of subur-

Mellon Award Goes To Belgian

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Painter Pierre Alechinsky, whose physician-parents wanted him to be a doctor, has won a $50,000 art prize for dream-like canvases anatomies inspired by fascination with his family.

The Belgian-born artist began a visit to Pittsburgh Monday which culminates Thursday when he receives the Andrew W. Mellon Award. He is celebrating the prize with a 134-piece exhibit at the Carnegie Museum of Art.

"When I make a painting, I make a question," he says. "A painting is not to give an answer."

Alechinsky, 50, who wears a beard and shaves his head, was chosen by an international panel of judges to receive the award named for the late Pittsburgh financier for the most representative living modern artist, according to museum art director Leon Arkus. The new award is to be given every two years, and may be shared by more than one artist.

"We are not saying Alechinsky is the greatest contemporary artist in the world," Arkus said. "That would be impossible to do and unfair."

Alechinsky, whose father fled Russia to escape religious persecution, was born in Brussels in 1927. Although encouraged to enter the medical field, he was fascinated by the artists with whom his family lived.

"Upstairs, my aunt produces her well-mannered paintings. On the floor below, grandmother plays Schubert sonatas accompanied by a gentleman from France on the violin," he once wrote of his childhood.

Alechinsky, who now lives in Paris, spoke to reporters through a translator amid four rooms filled with his colorful expressionist paintings of humans and animals.

Alechinsky's bold works are virtually the only ones still done in the COBRA tradition, a form adopted in the late 1940s by a group of artists disenchanted with the abstractionist school.

COBRA is an acronym for the cities of Copenhagen, Brussels and Amsterdam, whose artists broke with tradition to instill emotion and spontaneity in European painting.

"Certainly I don't know what will happen before the work," he says. "But I feel something during the work."

BODY BACK FROM VIETNAM Family's Suffering Over

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten years after their son's airplane was shot down over North Vietnam, the parents of Walter O. Estes II are getting his body back from the Vietnamese.

And they think the U.S. government could have done more for them and other parents of MIA's — American soldiers missing in action.

"For us the suffering is over," the Navy airman's father told the Macomb Daily recently. "We know for certain that our son is dead. But our hearts still go out to the hundreds of MIA survivors who will never know what happened to their sons and husbands."

Navy Lt. Estes was one of three Michigan men identified Tuesday by the Pentagon as among 21 whose remains were turned over to the U.S. by Hanoi Sept. 30. Military experts in Honolulu have been working since then to identify the bodies. One has yet to be identified.

The other two are Air Force Co. William H. Nelson of the tiny community of Fillion, in Michigan's Thumb area; and Navy Lt. James E. Teague of Jonesboro, Ark.

Teague and Estes were childhood friends, and Teague spent much of his childhood in Ingham County. The men enlisted in the Navy together, and were shot down together while on a bombing strike against Haiphong on Nov. 19, 1967.

Two days later, Radio Hanoi transmitted to Warsaw, Poland, two photographs containing eight military ID cards. Included in the picture, which later was picked up by the Associated Press, were the IDs of Estes and Teague.

"The Communists boasted they had captured my son," said Bertha Estes, a retired school teacher. "They even exhibited his ID card. Now, 10 years later, Walter will finally rest in peace — but no one will tell us how my son died in captivity."

"Where are Walter's human rights?"

Defense records show 702 military personnel are still listed as missing in the Southeast Asia war. A total of 1,803 are carried on the books as presumed dead, but their bodies have not been recovered.

The Carter administration has proposed reclassifying all known MIA's as "being presumed dead." Estes' father criticized that plan.

"If we say our MIA's are presumed dead, then Hanoi will never give us an accounting," he said. Why should they when Washington will have closed the final chapter...?"

The newly returned remains include 17 Air Force officers, three Navy lieutenants and civilian Tucker Gougelman of Montclair, N.J.

Defense officials said they could not give any information on his background but there have been reports that Gougelman worked for the Central Intelligence Agency.

A U.S. Air Force transport plane will bring the remains to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., today. They will be sent to the U.S. Army Mortuary at Oakland, Calif. and then, officials said, turned over to their families or buried by the government as directed by their survivors.

Mrs. Estes said her son would be buried at Arlington National Cemetery, and a family memorial service would be held at Williamston.

Relief Pitchers Get Higher Status

Lyle Wins Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) — After shutting a lot of doors during the 1977 baseball season, Sparky Lyle has opened a new one for relief pitchers.

"Maybe now they (relief pitchers) will start to be recognized after sweating blood out there in the bullpen day after day," says the New York Yankees pitcher. "I think that now people will stop and think about all the short-inning men who have worked so hard in this game."

Lyle was equally proud of his achievement of winning the American League Cy Young Award Tuesday as he was of bringing a new status to his breed.

"That's the best part of it — I'm happy not only for myself but for what it does for relief pitchers," said Lyle after becoming the first reliever in the American League to win the prestigious award.

"By me winning it does a lot of good for all relief pitchers: It gives them more recognition and it means people are beginning to realize the importance of relief pitchers. That's what this award means to me."

The only previous reliever to win the Cy Young award as best pitcher in his league was Mike Marshall of the National League's Los Angeles Dodgers in 1974.

Lyle, who had 26 saves to go with a 13-5 record, finished with 50½ points to edge Baltimore's Jim Palmer, a three-time winner who received 48 points in the voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Strikeout king Nolan Ryan of the California Angels was third with 46 points.

Lyle collected nine first-place votes, three for second and 2½ for third place from 28 BBWAA writers, two in each American League city. The point system awards five for first, three for second and one for third.

Other AL pitchers receiving votes included, Kansas City's Dennis Leonard, 45; Boston's Bill Campbell, 25½; Minnesota's Dave Goltz, 19; New York's Ron Guidry, 5, and Dave Rozema of Detroit, 4.

"When I got a telephone call about the award, I was so choked up I couldn't talk," said Lyle. "I was so nervous ... and at the same time, so happy."

The 33-year-old Lyle, for long one of the majors' best relief pitchers, led the Yankees to the AL East title for the second straight year, appearing in 72 games. Along the way, he carved out a league-leading 2.17 earned run average.

Lyle's victories in Games 4 and 5 of the AL playoffs against Kansas City sent the league champions into the World Series, where the reliever picked up the opening-game victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rozema Eighth In Voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Rozema, who had a superb rookie season and led Detroit Tiger pitchers in victories, was one of nine players receiving votes in the American League Cy Young Award balloting.

Rozema finished eighth with four votes in the voting for the league's best pitcher. Relief ace Sparky Lyle of the World Series-champion New York Yankees won the award with 50½ points.

Several weeks ago The Sporting News, a weekly newspaper devoted mainly to baseball, named Rozema its AL Rookie Pitcher of the Year.

Rozema led the Tigers in triumphs (15), complete games, innings pitched (218) and earned-run-average (3.09). His ERA was seventh best in the league.

The slender Grand Rapids

native won seven consecutive games at one stretch. He had a chance to become a 20-game winner before his right shoulder, which had caused him to miss a few starts in mid-season, tightened up. It forced him to miss the last three weeks of the season.

NL's Honor To Lasorda

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Lasorda, head cheerleader of baseball's "Sunshine Boys," the Los Angeles Dodgers, was named the National League's Manager of the Year today.

The vibrant Lasorda won the award as easily as his team took the National League pennant this past season — scoring a landslide victory over seven competitors.

Lasorda, who preached "love and togetherness" while leading the Dodgers to the National League pennant in his rookie year, collected 338 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters polled by The Associated Press.

Herman Franks of the Chicago Cubs, Lasorda's closest competitor, wasn't even in the same ballpark with 38 votes.

Danny Ozark, whose Philadelphia Phillies won the East title before losing to the Dodgers in the NL playoffs, finished third in the voting with 32.

Houston's Bill Virdon was fourth with 8 votes, followed by Vern Rapp of the St. Louis Cardinals, 2; Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds, 2, and San Diego's Alvin Dark and Pittsburgh's Chuck Tanner, 1 each.

Lasorda, a long-time loyal organization man who "bleeds Dodger Blue," inherited the manager's job upon the retirement of the venerable Walter Alston last year.

The change was noticeably dramatic, both in terms of managerial personality and artistic accomplishment. A flamboyant, free-wheeling character with a repertoire of one-line jokes, Lasorda was a distinct contrast to Alston's quiet, meditative ways.

Lasorda's reaction to getting the job on Sept. 29, 1976, was typical of things to come.

"I've got this terrible weight problem," he said. "I can't weight' to get started."

Lasorda continued to bombard his Dodgers and newsmen alike with similar stuff all through the 1977 season. At one point during the year when he truly had a weight problem, the whimsical Lasorda quipped: "I'm on a seafood diet. I eat everything I see."

Lasorda's accomplishment, though, was no joke. He brought a renewed spirit to a team that finished 10 games behind the Cincinnati Reds in the 1976 West race. Lasorda stormed into the Los Angeles spring training camp at Vero Beach, Fla., with the spirit of a college freshman, injecting widespread optimism into Dodger town.

MANAGER OF YEAR: Dodger manager Tom Lasorda's wife, Jo, shows him where she is going to plant a big kiss Tuesday night after they learned he had been named The Associated Press National League Manager of the Year. Upton Wins Two Upton Junior High won two girls basketball games from Lakeshore Tuesday. The eighth grade won 41-31 despite 17 points from Marcia Lausman of Lakeshore. Mary Fowler of Lakeshore netted 14 points but Upton won the seventh grade game, 32-20.

Weaver Top AL Manager

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, backed with the security of a three-year contract and confident of his team's ability, is eagerly awaiting the start of a new baseball season.

"Our personnel is as good as anybody's in baseball," Weaver said of the Baltimore Orioles — a team he led to a surprising second-place Eastern Division tie in 1977, just 2½ games behind the World Champion New York Yankees.

That finish, by a team thought to have been stripped of too much talent in the reentry draft, earned American League Manager of the Year honors for Weaver by a landslide vote.

Weaver received 248 votes in a nationwide poll of writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press. Whitey Herzog of Kansas City edged Bob Lemon of Chicago 54-52 for second place and New York's Billy Martin polled 38 votes.

Billy Hunter, who ended a long association with the Orioles and took over in July as the fourth manager of the year for the Texas Rangers, was named on 12 ballots. Don Zimmer of the Boston Red Sox received seven votes and five went to Gene Mauch of the Minnesota Twins.

A perennial optimist with imposing career won-lost records to support his lofty goals, Weaver never gave up on the Orioles even after they lost slugger Reggie Jackson, Gold Glove second baseman Bobby Grich and 20-game winner Wayne Garland.

Although he had to use 10 players with less than one year's major league experience, Weaver directed the Orioles to 97 victories. They weren't eliminated until three days before the end of the season.

"We'll be looking to trade if we can help ourselves," Weaver said before leaving his suburban Baltimore home for a month's vacation in South Carolina and Florida. "But we can give anybody a fit, the way we are."

"We're lacking nowhere. We have the type of team that can win as many as anybody in baseball. Of course, they'll still have to go out and prove that statement."

In a boastful moment while serving as an analyst for a local television station after the Yankees had won the World Series, Weaver said he was "glad that all the Yanks would be back" next year.

"Then, if we beat them," he said, "it would be much more satisfying. They won't have any excuses."

JOINING THE LEAGUE: North American Soccer League commissioner Phil Woosnam of New York (left) is shown with co-partners Roger Faulkner and Gordon Preston at Tuesday's news conference which announced that Detroit would have a franchise playing at the Pontiac Silverdome (background) next season. (AP Wirephoto)

Silverdome Soccer Home

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Professional soccer, absent from the Detroit area for 10 years, will make a comeback next spring when a North American Soccer League franchise locates in the Silverdome.

Phil Woosnam, league commissioner, said Tuesday the Detroit team will begin its five-month season in April, playing 15 games in Pontiac and 15 others on the road.

"Many of us in the league think this is later than it should have been, but we're glad to be back in Detroit," Woosnam said. So far, the Silverdome team has not been named.

The $250,000 franchise is sponsored by a group of local business people, including Roger Faulkner and Gordon Preston, auto dealer Ted Ewald; restaurateurs Elias Brothers, Inc. and John Maxwell; TDT Ltd., a real estate marketing group; sports publicist Elliott Trumbull; and several community soccer leaders.

It is also being sponsored by World Sports Academy, Ltd., a British soccer development organization.

The 80,000-seat, domed stadium is home of the National Football League Detroit Lions and next fall will become home to the National Basketball Association's Detroit Pistons.

Faulkner and Preston helped promote a league exhibition soccer game in 1976 that drew more than 23,000 persons to the Silverdome. Three weeks ago, 24,000 persons watched an international exhibition game at the Silverdome between the New York Cosmos and Santos of Brazil.

Another group, represented by Detroit attorney Robert Fenton and supported by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, had applied for a league franchise using Tiger Stadium in Detroit as the home field. But Woosnam said the Silverdome was preferable.

Surgery For Hubbard!

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Star center Phil Hubbard, who led Michigan into the NCAA basketball tournament the last two seasons, is scheduled to undergo knee surgery today to remove torn cartilage.

He will be lost to the Wolverines indefinitely.

"We certainly hope to have Phil back playing with us in the near future," Coach Johnny Orr, whose team opens its season Nov. 26 at Western Kentucky, said Tuesday.

Hubbard, who was All-Big Ten last season and third team All American, injured his left knee in Sophia, Bulgaria, last August. He was playing for the United States' team against the Soviet Union squad in World University Games competition.

Hubbard was sent home early to rest. He reinjured the knee during the first day of practice for the upcoming season, Oct. 17, a university spokesman said.

Last season Hubbard led Michigan in scoring, with a 19.6 average, and rebounding, with a 13.0 average.

"The exact extent of the injury has not been determined and the prognosis for his return is incomplete at this time," said team physician Jerry O'Connor.

"Tests conducted last week showed the evidence of torn cartilage, but the final decision on surgery was made Tuesday," O'Connor said. "We were being very conservative because we wanted to be sure that surgery was necessary before making the final decision. We won't know until after surgery how long it will be before he can be on his feet and ready to start rehabilitating the knee."

Tom Bergen, Hubbard's backup last season, will vie with junior college transfer Mike Robinson for the starting center job now. Robinson, who is 6-foot-10, 250 pounds, is a brother of Johnny Robinson, Michigan forward who has graduated.

Blossomland Showdown Friday Cass, Dowagiac Game 'Even'

Cassopolis and Dowagiac will match similar statistics when the two collide Friday night in a climatic Blossomland Conference football showdown.

The Rangers (6-0) can capture the league crown outright with a win while the Chiefs (5-1) need a win to grab a championship share.

Other Blossomland league-enders pit Lakeshore (3-3) at Brandywine (3-3), River Valley (0-6) at Coloma (3-3) and Buchanan (1-5) at Edwardsburg (3-3).

Host Cass and Dowagiac both boast explosive offensive units and stingy defenses, as attested by a glance at their statistics.

The Rangers are averaging 25.8 points per game and 322 yards total offense. The Chiefs are scoring at a 20.1 clip and averaging 306.1 in yardage. The two rank two-three in the area in offense, with Cass also third in scoring.

On defense, Cassopolis has allowed just an average of 6.7 points per game (fifth best) and 166.3 yards per game (fifth top). The Chiefs have yielded 8.7 points and an average of 165.5 total yards (fourth best).

"Yes, they're real diversified on offense...they have good passing and three good backs," declares Chief Coach Russ Barnes. "And their offensive line gets off the ball real quick. They are a threat to score at any time...that's our big concern. I think the key to the game will be how well our defense can contain their offensive attack."

"Defensively, they are very quick. And their secondary is one of the best we'll face all year. It will be a real test of our offensive capabilities."

The Rangers, who have won 10 straight for the area's longest winning streak, and Dowagiac, which has taken four in a row, will match outstanding tailbacks in Marshall Sinclair and Craig Morrow. The Rangers' Sinclair has rushed for 790 yards (fifth best) and Morrow 905 (third top).

Both squads also have solid passing attacks. The Chiefs' Larry McLaughlin has helped his school amass 634 yards in the air this year (fourth best) while Mike Stangne has carried Cass to 542 yards passing. The Rangers also have two dandy backs in Tim Hartzell and Eric Collins, and the Chiefs a standout in Dan Weinman.

"Dowagiac is the best ball club we've seen overall," tells Cass Coach Cal Titus. "They have good passing and running and a good defense. It will probably boil down to the offensive lines...who gets off the football best."

Cassopolis, which clinched a piece of its first Blossomland title ever last Friday, will also be risking its No. 2 ranking in the latest Class C poll, an undefeated season and a spot in the state playoffs.

Lakeshore, Brandywine, Coloma and Edwardsburg will all be battling for a share of third place in the final standings.

Lakeshore will bring its improving aerial game to Niles to take on the injury-plagued Bobcats. Quarterback Dave DeVoir has tossed for 208 yards and three touchdowns in the last two games and 456 yards and nine scores in the last four games.

"I'm really pleased with the way Dave is picking up his secondary receivers now...that's really excellent for a high school quarterback," comments Lakeshore Coach Dave Topping of DeVoir.

"I'm real pleased with the progress our offensive team has made during the season. Our young offensive line is getting a little more explosive as it gets experience."

Juniors on the offensive line include Bill Wolter, Marc Florian, Joe Campbell, Scott Andrews and Glen Elsasser. The two seniors are Mike Stenberg and Kevin Smiley. Odell Brister leads the Lancers with 573 yards on the ground while Paul Freer has added 461.

Brandywine always plays well against Lakeshore...they don't like to get beat by Lakeshore," notes Topping. "Our goal is to play one game at a time and maybe still salvage a winning season."

"Lakeshore is a very quick team and DeVoir, Freer and Brister are all exceptionally quick backs," offers Bobcat Coach Pete McCauley. "We played four sophomores at one time last week on offense due to all our injuries. But the biggest thing we have to do is get our offensive line working."

The Bobcats have lost three in a row to slip to 4-3 on the season. Lakeshore, which has lost four games this year by only a total of 18 points, needs a win Friday and then next week Saturday against Benton Harbor for a winning season. Lakeshore and Brandywine tied for the title in 1976.

Coloma, which lost its first three games, can get back to the .500 level and maintain its hopes for a winning year with a win against the Mustangs.

"Our goal now is a winning season, so in that respect this game is very important for us," states Coloma Coach Bob Irvin. "We can become a .500 club and end 4-3 in the league, which would make us happy after such a dismal start."

"River Valley is improved over last year. Their record is no indication of their improvement. I think their night is coming. I just hope it's not this week."

Coloma, second best rushing club in the area with 1794 yards (26.3 average per game), will likely have Scott McLean available for duty. McLean, the sixth top ground gainer in the area with 681 yards, is still recovering from an ankle injury.

Valley has lost six straight games and a record 19 consecutive Blossomland encounters.

SJ Facing Good Backs Holland Duo Second, Fourth In League

Holland's "Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside" duo could get St. Joseph in Dutch Friday night.

Tailback Kirk Emerson and fullback Rick Schutt rank second and fourth, respectively, in Big Eight Conference rushing with per carry averages of 5.6 and 5.0 yards.

Together they are probably the best one-two punch we've faced," comments St. Joseph Coach Joe Muhlenkamp on the senior standouts his Bears will be up against on the Holland gridiron.

Emerson, a 165-pounder, has "good speed" as Holland's outside threat, and 215-pound Schutt can be devastating inside as a runner and a blocker. "He's a super blocker," declares Holland Coach Clyde Line. "There's no better fullback in the conference than Schutt...probably no better fullback on this side of the state."

Holland likes to keep the ball on the ground, but it can throw effectively. Quarterback Gray Gogolin has connected on 36 of 70 for 418 yards and six touchdowns. Kevin Beerthuis leads the receivers with 10 catches for 132 yards.

"We like to run the ball," admits Line. Holland's first-year coach. "We don't like to throw more than 10 times per game."

Holland is second in the Big Eight at 4-2 and 5-2 overall with a productive offense averaging 24 points and 286 yards per game.

St. Joseph, now 1-5 in the league and 2-9 on the season, has had a hex on Holland with eight straight victories over the Dutch, including three in a row without allowing a touchdown. But a comparison of scores of six common foes this season makes the Bears a touchdown underdog Friday.

Muhlenkamp thinks St. Joe can win, though. "We think if we can contain their offense to some degree we can win," says the Bear boss. "We think we will be able to move the ball on them."

St. Joseph has the Big Eight's best passing offense with quarterback Steve Ziebart 67 of 135 for 963 yards, with wide receiver Keene Taylor having 22 receptions for 408 yards.

Line is somewhat worried about his defense, which has given up 123 points...11 more than allowed by St. Joe. "We've had some difficulty containing the big play," explains Line. "We've given up a lot of long gainers. Both games we lost was because we weren't able to contain the big play."

The leading St. Joe rushers are tailback Kevin Wheeler (398 yards, 4.0 per carry), tailback Eddie Lekan (247, 4.8) and fullback Steve Eckert (242, 3.2).

St. Joe will be without linebacker-tight end Brian Hansen Friday because of a broken hand suffered last week. Tom Redman and Jeff Kiesel will fill in at linebacker while Bryan

Brown and Jerry Jones take up the slack at tight end.

St. Joe award winners last week were Ken Felke on defense and Ziebart and Kiesel for the prep teams.

A Holland win Friday would guarantee the Dutch at least a share of second in the Big Eight. Others vying for the second spot behind unbeaten champion Portage Central are Battle Creek, Lakeview, Kalamazoo Central and Kalamazoo Loy Norrix, all at 3-2 in the league. Lakeview meets Portage Central Friday, while Kalamazoo Central takes on Niles (1-3) and Norrix meets Portage Northern (0-5).

Niles Coach Neil McLaughlin will be looking for his 50th victory as a southwestern Michigan coach in the Vikings' home game Friday.

Viking tailback Leonard Fowler leads Big Eight rushers with 880 yards and a 7.7 yards per carry. Portage Central's Todd Lipschultz has the league's best per carry average at 7.8 but is third in yards gained at 684.

Ranger, Lakers Leading In 'C' Playoff Rankings

Cassopolis and Lake Michigan Catholic have moved into the top two spots in Region 1 of the Class C high school playoff ratings.

Bridgman remains fourth in Class D, but South Haven has slipped from second to fifth in Class B following last week's loss to Class A power Midland Dow.

The top two teams in each region advance to next month's playoffs.

While Cass and Lake Michigan Catholic are in playoff spot, neither can feel secure. The Rangers face upset-minded Dowagiac this Friday, and the Lakers lead No. 3 Middleville by just four-tenths of a point.

Elsewhere in the state, the playoff ratings have added more tension to Friday night's showdown in Class A between Saginaw Arthur Hill and Flint Southwestern.

After chasing Arthur Hill all season in the Michigan High School Athletic Association's ratings, Southwestern edged in to a flat-footed tie for first place in Class A's region 1 this week — just in time for the big game.

The two teams are knitted at an average of 108.57 points apiece, based on their identical

7-0 records and who they defeated along the way. Meanwhile, in The Associated Press' weekly rankings, Arthur Hill moved into second spot behind Flint to set up a 1-2 battle.

And, although the top two teams in each region make the playoffs this year, it appears likely that the loser of Friday's game will tumble too deep into region 1 to gain a playoff berth. The region boasts six undefeated prep teams, and East Lansing is less than six points behind the two leaders.

Other teams rated tops in the AP poll held hammerlocks on their regions. Grand Rapids West Catholic, Negaunee and Crystal Falls Forest Park all led their regions as they moved toward the playoffs.

After the top two teams in each of four regions in each class play, the regional leaders will clash in a two-step playoff for the four class championships.

This week saw more jostling among top-rated teams in the MHSAA's ratings, although most leaders held onto their top spots. Following are the top five teams in each region in each class, followed by their point averages:

New Buffalo's Girls Taste First Basketball Victory

Ah, the sweet taste of victory. New Buffalo's girls basketball team finally sampled a win Tuesday night. And though it came in a non-league game, the Bisons found the vintage to their liking.

Kathy Kaminski's free throw with 35 seconds left gave New Buffalo a thrilling 29-28 overtime win over Michigan Lutheran. And Bison coach Ron Stella was overjoyed.

"The girls are very elated over the victory," he said. "And I couldn't be happier."

The victory was the first varsity win of the year for New Buffalo after eight losses. The Bisons had one earlier victory, but it came over Hartford's

"We're just building a program," said Stella, who took over the team in August. "We had just eight girls on the team when I started and now we've built it up to 12."

"We had beaten Hartford's JVs, but the girls weren't elated. They wanted to beat a varsity team. Hopefully, this win will have a positive effect."

"I'm trying to build some unity and pride. The girls have been beaten unmercifully in the past and they had no confidence. Now they recognize that they can win a game."

New Buffalo's girls cage program has struggled since its beginning in 1975. The Bisons have lost by such incredible scores as 122-21, 99-17, 80-7, and 107-11 over the past two years.

Stella may have the experience the Bisons need. He coached the Bridgman boys to a 49-14 record from 1963-66, winning one conference, two district and one regional title.

Interestingly enough, it was Stella's daughter, Chris, who led New Buffalo in scoring with 10 points. Karen Gilkie added eight.

Lori Garlinger tossed in 11 for Michigan Lutheran, which overcame an eight-point deficit in the fourth quarter to send the game into overtime.

In Red Arrow league action Tuesday, Lake Michigan Catholic stayed unbeaten with a 44-16 win over Bridgman. Galien took over sole possession of third place by edging Watervliet 46-43 and Hartford upset Eau Claire 48-40.

The Lakers ran their league record to 9-0 and overall slate to 12-0 with the easy victory over Bridgman. Catholic was never headed after grabbing a 17-4 first-quarter lead.

Helen McQuillan and Sue Spear each tallied 12 points for the winners. Sherry Tiefenbach scored six points and Sarah Walsh tallied four points and 11 rebounds for the Bees.

Galien, now 5-4 in Red Arrow play, led all the way against the Panthers. The Gaels held quarter leads of 11-6, 22-14 and 37-28.

Sue Heller led the Galien charge, as usual, with 20 points.

Terri Warren added 12 points and 16 rebounds and Lori Patton chipped in 11 points.

Julie Baiers and Kim Philippi each tallied 12 for Watervliet, now 4-5.

Hartford outscored Eau Claire

23-12 in the final quarter to post its victory.

The Indians, now 3-6, won the game at the free throw line by hitting 22 of 34. The Beavers found the range on just 14 of 28 charities.

Lori Shindeldecker was the star for Hartford, scoring 16 of her game-high 26 points in the final quarter.

Karen Layman scored 14 and Kathy Rodell added nine for Eau Claire, now 4-5.

SJ Girls Back In Second Bears Get Revenge Win Over Lakeview

BATTLE CREEK — St. Joseph got a taste of revenge Tuesday night by beating Battle Creek Lakeview in the Big Eight Conference 42-33.

"It was a big win," said Bears' Coach Rick Bloodworth, whose girls lost by eight points to the Spartans in their first encounter this season. The win gave the Bears sole possession of second place with a conference record of 8-2.

In another Big Eight match Niles downed Portage Central 51-42.

Again the Bears got good performances from more than a couple players. Leading the attack was Michelle Priefer with 15 points and seven rebounds. She got help from teammates Carol Silverthorn, seven points and 11 rebounds, Pat Wampach, six points and eight rebounds, and Liz Scheffler, five points and six rebounds.

The Spartans jumped out to an early 8-2 lead when Lakeview's big center Jenny Hayes tossed in three quick jump shots. The Bears stopped her cold for the remainder of the game when Bloodworth shifted Wampach out higher on the key to guard Hayes. Hayes only scored one more bucket in the game. "We didn't give them anything after the first few minutes," Bloodworth commented.

The Bears trailed at the end of the first half 16-14 but dominated play in the second half. Rebounding, free throws and tough defense were the deciding factors of the game. The aggressive Bears allowed Lakeview to get only four rebounds in the third quarter and none in the fourth quarter. Of Lakeview's 24 total rebounds only six were captured off the offensive boards. The Bears grabbed 18 offensive and 25 defensive rebounds. "They didn't get many second chances. We really did a good job on the boards," Bloodworth said.

"The big difference in scoring was free throw shooting. We didn't put the ball in very well from the floor. We didn't shoot well at all in the first half," he said.

The Bears hit 16-out-of-33 from the charity stripe and Michelle Priefer hit seven straight free throws.

As well as controlling the boards, the Bears stopped the Spartans' one-two scoring punch of Hayes and Terry Myers. Wampach completely shut off Hayes under the basket by keeping her away and denying her the ball, Bloodworth indicated. Myers, who has been averaging 15 points a game, was held to six.

Bloodworth praised Liz Scheffler for scoring the baskets that put the Bears on top by four in the third period. From there on out the Bears never looked back. They outscored the Spartans 28 to 17 in the last half.

At Portage, the Mustangs tried to shake up Niles with a full court press, but "we practiced all week against the press and were well prepared for the game," explained Niles' Coach Craig Riley. "I figured Central's coach would find out from (Portage) Northern's coach that we had trouble with the press against Northern."

Kim Works had 15 points for the Vikings and 15 rebounds while teammate Jeanette Allen added 10. "We put on a zone trap which gave them fits. We just double teamed the ball and forced a lot of turnovers," Riley said.

In junior varsity action St. Joe upped its season record to 13-0 by whipping Lakeview 37-27. Kim Zimmerman was high scorer for the Bears with 10 points. The Viking jayvees bowed to Portage Central 37-31.

Boyd Nets 32; Tigers Lose To Mona Shores

MUSKEGON — Benton Harbor's Denise Boyd came up with another sparkling performance with 32 points here Tuesday night, but it wasn't enough to lift the Tigers past Mona Shores.

Benton Harbor lost to Mona Shores 58-52 in a setback which leaves the teams tied for first place in the LMCA at 5-2.

"She's a very, very good ball player," said Tiger Coach Judy Brooks of Boyd. Denise led her team in scoring and also in rebounding by picking off 15.

Brooks said she also got a good performance from Cynthia Lark who was moved up from the JV squad for Tuesday night's game. Lark got seven points and 13 rebounds.

Kris Dewitt scored 20 points and Sue Schultz had 12 for Mona Shores.

"We fouled a lot and they shot good at the foul line. We did our best. They've got a good team," Brooks said.

In the jayvee game Mona Shores beat the Tiger jayvees 42-31.

Stoll Credits Gophers' Emotions For Upset Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Cal Stoll credits the level of emotion reached for Minnesota's 16-0 upset of Michigan last Saturday.

"Emotion was very instrumental," Stoll told the Chicago Football Writers in a telephone interview Tuesday. "We couldn't line up with them athlete against athlete."

"We're not good enough to beat anyone without emotion," said Stoll. "We lost to Iowa and almost lost to Northwestern. It's a problem Saturday after Saturday," said Stoll, "and it's not just emotion alone but the level and height of emotion."

"You can't just press a button and register one hundred or zero. We weren't flat against Iowa, they were higher. You can get up to 98 but the other team could be 100.

"Michigan wasn't exactly flat and without emotion but we were at a higher level."

Stoll also heaped praise upon quarterback Mark Carlson who made his first start and became Minnesota's No. 1 quarterback despite the fact that Carlson hadn't played competitively for nearly two years.

"He is competitively mature," said Stoll. "He's a next play quarterback, he's in command and his confidence is contagious. He knows he can get it done and pretty soon the other players felt he could get it done."

"He hadn't played because of surgery," said Stoll. "But he's ready to play now. Some people are put together that way."

Stoll hopes that the victory over Michigan will help Minnesota at the gate by drawing bigger crowds.

"We've had decent crowds and that game should help but it all depends on what we do this Saturday," said Stoll. "We're in a sophisticated market and competing with the Vikings, the Twins, the North Stars. There are only so many sports dollars in the Minneapolis market."

"We're in show business," said Stoll. "If we have a good show, the fans come out. It's too bad, but that's the way it is." Stoll takes the Gophers and a 5-2 record to Indiana this Saturday where, he said, "Lee Corso keeps coming up with great running backs. He must have a machine down there. They keep getting hurt and he keeps coming up with more." Because Minnesota is on NCAA probation, the Gophers missed a chance to be on regional television this week and the Big Ten game selected was Purdue at Northwestern. "I think it's a disappointment," said Stoll. "We all have egos. It's a normal, human thing wanting to be on television. But playing and winning games is the overriding No. 1 reason. Television is important but has a lesser priority."

Tedesco Feels He Did His Best

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The team was embarrassed, but Dominic Tedesco's conscience was clear.

Football players do a lot of soul searching after an upset loss, but Michigan linebacker Tedesco found no reason to feel guilty over the Wolverines' 16-0 Big Ten setback Saturday at Minnesota.

"It hurt a real lot, but I don't think I was embarrassed at all," he said this week. "If I'd have felt I laid down and let them take it to us, I'd have felt embarrassment. But I didn't."

He wasn't alone in thinking he did his best. The Michigan coaching staff named Tedesco the squad's defensive "Champion of the Week."

It was the first time this season the 6-foot-4, 203-pound senior from Riverside, Ill., won the award — even though he recovered two fumbles in Michigan's triumph over Texas A&M and two more the following week in the victory over Michigan State.

Tedesco is very quick and has a knack of tackling players behind the line of scrimmage. He is sixth overall in tackles on the team with 45, but his seven tackles for 50 yards in losses is tops.

"When I was a sophomore I wasn't sure if I'd ever play here," he said. "There were so many talented people, a lot who never played."

Last year as a junior he became a starter and lettered for the first time.

"I just kept working hard and things happened to go my way," Tedesco said.

Despite his solid play, which has often drawn the tempered praise of Coach Bo Schembechler, Tedesco said he needs to improve.

"I don't think you can ever be satisfied," Tedesco said. "If you felt that way you'd never improve. As soon as you're satisfied you're really in trouble."

The Wolverines, 6-1, fell from first to sixth this week in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Could Tedesco perhaps detect anything last week that indicated the Wolverines might not be ready for the Gophers?

"I couldn't," he said, "but the coaches did. They said they felt we weren't ready. They told us before the game we weren't practicing as well as we should have."

The loss, however, won't result in unbearably tougher practices this week, Tedesco believes.

"Players will be working harder," he said. "But I don't think there's any strategy on the coaches' part to make practice longer and more difficult."

Michigan's homecoming game is Saturday against Iowa.

Israel Seeks To Restore West Bank's Old Names

SABASTIYAH. Occupied West Bank (AP) — Ruins lie upon ruins at Sabastiyah, a Palestinian Arab town with a Greek name honoring a Roman emperor and now administered by Israelis.

Almost 3,000 years ago Omri and Ahab raised the Kingdom of Samaria here, but within 200 years the Assyrians had wrecked Samaria and carried the people of Israel into their first exile.

Today the wheel of history has come full circle: Modern Israel has been administering the area, now commonly called the West Bank of the Jordan River, since the 1967 Middle East war. Despite demands that the West Bank should be part of a Palestinian homeland, Israel is trying to put the ancient name Samaria back on the map, along with Judea, the old name of an adjoining area. "Don't call it 'the West Bank'," he said.

These words — "Yehuda" and "Shomron" in Hebrew — are common usage in Israel. An Israeli army camp one mile from Sabastiyah is named Shomron, and Jewish settlers have moved into the camp to start a civilian town.

Much of the rest of the world calls the area the West Bank of the Jordan River. But after a decade of putting up the road-side signs and printing the telephone books, Israel would prefer wider recognition of the biblical Jewish names.

There are three ways of referring to this disputed area of 2,270 square miles, and each has a different political significance.

"Judea and Samaria," the term favored in Israel, suggests ancient Hebrew power because these were the names of the two Israelite kingdoms formed after the death of King Solomon in 928 B.C.

Judea (or Judah) had its capital at Jerusalem. Its domain reached the Mediterranean in the vicinity of modern Tel Aviv and extended south to Elath (also known as Eilat) on the Gulf of Aquaba. North of Judea, Samaria's territory included the Mediterranean coastline up to today's territory included the Mediterranean coastline up to today's Haifa area and a big loop of what is now Syria and the Kingdom of Jordan.

Samaria (the kingdom was also called Israel) is named for a man called Shemer who, according to the Bible, for two talents of silver sold King Omri a hill where he and his son, Ahab, built a capital. Walls and foundations of their city are visible today on the hill 42 miles north of Jerusalem. There are also column-lined streets from a Roman era city (called Sebastia after the Greek name for Augustus Caesar) and crusader churches, one now taken over by a stately Muslim Mosque and an elementary school.

"West Bank of the Jordan" suggests a connection to Jordan, which was called Transjordan until the first Arab-Israeli war in 1948. Jordanian troops captured land as much as 15 miles west of the Jordan river in that war. The land was annexed and the kingdom changed its name to Jordan, signifying control over land both east and west of the famed river.

"Palestine" (pronounced "falasteen" in both Hebrew and colloquial Arabic) takes its name from the Philistines, idol-worshipping enemies of the ancient Israelites. This name was used by both Roman and Crusader conquerors of the Holy Land, and the local Arabs call themselves Palestinians, not Jordanians.

"This was Palestine until 1948, then it became the West bank," a young Arab teacher said in Ramallah, a center of Palestinian nationalism in the West Bank. "Now we want it to be Palestine again."

The West Bank is only a small part of the area known as Palestine, and when Arabs say "Palestine," Israelis suspect the meaning includes a desire for Arab rule over all the land redeemed by Jewish blood and sweat. Jews seldom use "Palestine" and instead lump Judea and Samaria together as "Eretz Israel" — Hebrew for the "Land of Israel."

The 700,000 Arabs of the West Bank have no terms corresponding to Judea and Samaria. They are more likely to divide the area into "the Hills of Hebron" or "the Hills of Nablus."

Bill Would Let Workers Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of legislation to make it easier for federal employees to "blow the whistle" on suspected abuses in the bureaucracy say a congressional report to be released soon will show the need for their bills.

"The people who came to us found they had no place they could blow off steam," said Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., who appointed a task force that talked to government employees about the practice.

He has introduced a Senate bill that would create a panel to investigate such complaints from federal workers.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., who co-sponsored a similar bill in the House with Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said the congressional task force interviewed scores of "whistleblowers" and government officials.

Leahy said the people the task force talked to "either had to be absolutely right (in their complaint) or put themselves in deep jeopardy."

In a telephone interview, Leahy said the task force also found it is "fairly easy to tell a legitimate claim from one in which someone is just out to get even with the boss."

Claiming information on government waste could save taxpayers millions of dollars, Udall said the report from his task force "told us that there is a strong need for this legislation."

"Too many agency bureaucrats have a vested interest in keeping matters secret," he said. "An employee who sees the need for disclosure can only expect to be punished by his superiors."

Consequently, he said, "such potentially serious abuses as lack of proper safety measures in nuclear facilities, collusion between regulated industries and regulatory agencies, and gross overspending on defense contracts are never brought out in the open."

Udall recalled the case of A. Ernest Fitzgerald, a Pentagon analyst who "blew the whistle" before a congressional committee on an alleged $2 billion cost overrun on the C-5A transport plane project.

Fitzgerald was laid off on Nov. 4, 1969, after his testimony, and went heavily into debt paying lawyers' fees before eventually regaining a job with the Defense Department.

Udall noted that Fitzgerald was right about the cost overrun and the Pentagon's effort to cover them up.

The Fitzgerald case prompted legislation intended to protect employees who bring their complaints before congressional committees. But Leahy said those bills would only help with agencies overseen by Congress.

The Udall-Simon bill would create a Review Board on Improper Government Actions on a three-year trial basis.

"If the board found cause for concern in an employee's report," it would refer the matter to the Justice Department, the General Accounting Office, or another appropriate agency," Udall said.

The Arizona Democrat said the bill would also require those agencies to report back regularly.

If an employee was fired, demoted, transferred to a hardship post or "otherwise harassed" within two years after making a report to the board, he could bypass Civil Service Commission grievance procedures and go directly to the federal courts for help. If he won his case, the government would pay his legal fees.

Prison Reform Aid

Colson Giving $100,000

Q: I know that Charles Colson turned to religion after the Watergate scandal. He always struck me as the meanest of the Nixon staffers. Is his religious conversion really on the level? — B.A., Benton Harbor, La.

A: Colson was one of the harder stone-wallers in the Nixon White House. But prison apparently brought about a deep religious rebirth in Colson, an experience he wrote about in his book, "Born Again." Since his release, he's been heavily involved in prison reform and is one of the few outsiders who really connects with convicts. Now we've learned Colson is donating $100,000, his share of Q: Tell us something about the actor who plays Superman in that upcoming, big movie. Is he a muscle-bound hunk or are they padding him for the role? — A.O., Providence, R.I.

A: Neither. Christopher Reeve is a young and strapping, six-foot-plus native of Princeton, N.J. He beat out dozens of competitors, winning the Superman part on the basis of looks and experience, both on the stage and in the forthcoming movie, "Grey Lady Down," with Charlton Heston. While obviously no weakling, Reeve had to undergo a rigorous exercise and diet program, supervised by a team of British Olympic trainers, to get in shape for the role.

Q: If Jon Peters is going to be working on the East Coast producing that movie "Eyes" with Faye Dunaway, what will Barbara Streisand do? — T.A., Tacoma, Wash.

A: You can be sure Barbara will stay close by Jon's side in New York while he's working on "Eyes" (a murder thriller in the world of high-fashion photography). Barbara's home in the Holmby Hills section of Los Angeles is up for sale for $850,000 and probably Barbara will start another movie next spring with Peters producing.

BROKEN HEART: Actor Peter O'Toole is reported to be taking the separation from his wife, after 19 years of marriage, very badly and friends are quite worried. His wife, Welsh actress San Phillips, 43, does not seem to be suffering at all and has been seen around London with a 26-year-old actor, Robin Sachs, who has been her companion since she and O'Toole split in June.

Q: Robert Redford seems to like variety in his roles, playing everything from con man to crusading reporter. What will he play in his next movie? — P.S., Sanction, Calif.

A: For "A Place to Come To," Redford's upcoming film, directed by close friend Sydney Pollack, he'll do a real turnabout and surprise us all. He's not going to play a stuntman, ace flyer, cowboy, or even be with Paul Newman. The screenplay is being adapted from the novel by Robert Penn Warren in which Redford will portray a poet and college professor who's as high spirited and bawdy as he is learned. The movie will be a kind of love story, since the central character stays married to the same woman for 30 years. We don't know yet who the actress will be who'll have the pleasure of aging all those years with Redford.

Q: I know Al Pacino and Marthe Keller are living together. Did he get her that big role in his film, "Bobby Deerfield"? — R.J., Wallington, N.J.

A: No. They didn't know each other before the movie was made in Europe last year. It was during the shooting that they became romantically involved. And besides, Marthe is nobody's slouch. She beat out dozens of actresses for the part and many think she steals the picture from Pacino, who plays an American racing driver in Europe.

SEND MONEY: We recently mentioned that you could get a flag that flew over the nation's Capitol on your child's birthday by writing to your congressman. But a lot of congressmen called us to point out that the flags aren't free. If you want a 3'x5' it will cost $5.16, and for the larger 5'x8' the price is $11. And it doesn't have to be a birthday, either. Order one up for any day that's meaningful to you.

Area Population Jump Of 24% Projected

CASSOPOLIS — A study completed by the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission staff predicts that by the year 2000 population will have increased by 50 percent in Van Buren County, 37 percent in Cass County and 11 percent in Berrien County. Van Buren's population will increase from its 1975 estimate of 61,400 people to 92,200, according to the study. Cass will grow from 45,000 to 62,500, and Berrien from 170,000 to 189,400. The combined three-county growth projection from 277,000 to 343,900 is 66,900 or about 24 percent.

The population projections were officially adopted yesterday by the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission at its meeting at the Cass County Commission Chambers here yesterday. The regional planning commission's adoption of the study means it now can be used in all planning involving future population trends, according to William Gebhard, SWMRPC senior planner.

Gebhard said the study indicates that the population increases in the next 25 years in Van Buren and Cass will be due primarily to the establishment of "bedroom communities" in the two counties.

Van Buren's projected 50 percent increase is based on expectation of an influx of people who will commute to work in the Kalamazoo area, he said, and Cass County is expected to increase from new residents who will commute across the stateline to South Bend, Elkhart and Mishawaka.

The increase in commuting in Van Buren and Cass is predicted because of recent trends of population increases without corresponding increases in available jobs, according to Gebhard. It is also based on a study of traffic patterns in the two counties, he said. The study predicts an increase in population for every city and township in the two counties, with particularly strong increases along the I-94 corridor in Van Buren County and in the areas bordering the Indiana-Michigan border in Cass County.

In Berrien County, the study predicts population increases in suburban and rural townships, but slight population losses in larger cities. The study predicts population in the City of Benton Harbor will decrease from 15,739 to 15,000; City of St. Joseph, from 11,021 to 10,000; Benton Township, from 19,016 to 19,000, and City of Niles, 12,843 to 12,000. Lincoln Township population will increase from 12,504 to 17,586 by the year 2000, according to the study. Hugur Township is expected to increase from 4,294 to 6,000, and Watervliet Township is predicted to grow from 2,508 to 4,300.

Gebhard said the population study, completed by the SWMRPC staff and consultants hired by the regional planning commission, will be used specifically for use in the SWMRPC water quality program scheduled to be completed by the end of 1978. Future population trends are necessary to plan for future water treatment facility needs and management of water quality, Gebhard said.

In other action, the regional planning commission yesterday reviewed and approved applications by local agencies and communities for more than $1,550,491 in federal grants. A $1,499,279 federal grant is being sought by the Berrien County CETA office to continue the agency's Title I program to provide employment and vocational training. The funds would come from the U.S. Department of Labor.

The regional planning commission also reviewed and approved a $25,552 grant to provide a peer group counseling program — with students counseling other students — at St. Joseph high school. The program, which is designed to address the problems of truancy, vandalism, assaults and other related problems, is already in operation at the Fairplain Junior High School and the Alternative Education Center in Benton Harbor and Niles High School and Ring Lardner Junior High in Niles. Berrien County is applying for the grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. The regional planning commission also approved a $21,160 grant the Berrien CETA office is applying for to provide planning for a new program to provide career education and employment training to unemployed youths in Berrien County.

A $4,500 grant is being sought by Three Oaks Township to install a drainage system at the Forest Lawn Cemetery. The grant, which will be matched by $4,500 from the township, is being sought from the federal Soil Conservation Service. Final action on the grants is up to the appropriate federal and state agencies.

Recall Effort Fails In Niles Township

BY JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau
NILES — Six members of the Niles Township Board survived recall in a special election Tuesday.

Unofficial returns showed voters in the township turning back the recalls sought by the Niles Township Taxpayers Association by margins of 253 votes for Trustee James Stover to 485 votes for Clerk William Barthel.

All members of the board, except new Supervisor Harry Sidleberg, were named on the recall ballots.

Members of the taxpayers group launched the recall vote with a petition drive, claiming dissatisfaction with implementation of new assessment of property in the township and spending on projects that included a sewer system nearing completion.

In addition to Barthel and Stover, other board members on the recall ballots were Treasurer M. Sherman Drew and trustees James Sullivan, Robert Jones and Charles Losensky.

Returns from the 11 precincts and one absentee counting board in the township, for each board member, are listed below:

Barthel, 1,510 no, 1,016, yes; Drew, 1,440 no, 1,081, yes; Sullivan, 1,413 no, 1,102, yes; Losensky, 1,478 no, 1,036, yes; Stover, 1,385 no, 1,132, yes, and Jones, 1,485 no, 1,031, yes.

Questioned after the results were known, John Schoff, president of the taxpayers group, said he felt the organization accomplished what it wanted despite the outcome — a vote by township residents. "The people had their say. They told us what they wanted," Schoff said.

Schoff said the group would attempt to work more closely with the board. He said results of the balloting showed, "you can't classify us as a handful of people."

Drew, speaking at post-election celebration, said the board members were happy with the vote and that "we can get back to the business of carrying on government in Niles Township."

Drew said the board recognized the recall was prompted with dissatisfaction of "many taxpayers" with taxes and pledged the board would continue to "work as hard as possible for the people of the township."

Sidleberg was not subject to recall because he was named to the supervisor's post only earlier this month. He replaces John Bundy, who resigned in August and who was a recall target.

Both Sidleberg and Schoff expressed disappointment with the voter turnout. Over 2,500 votes were cast, but township workers said there are 7,904 registered voters in the township, of which 6,739 are listed as active.

In another development, Drew said Tuesday night that the board would continue to press its appeal of a Berrien County Circuit Court decision which turned back an attempt by the board to block the recall election.

The board appealed Circuit Court Judge Zoe Burkholz's dismissal of suit challenging the election to the Michigan Court of Appeals in Grand Rapids. While Drew said the appeals court turned down the board's motion for an immediate hearing on the case prior to the vote, he expected to argue the case before the appeals court in December.

Drew, an attorney, said the board feels "there is a legal question involved," and the appeal could be a test case.

RECALL FAILS: John Schoff, right, and Milo Arsenovich, left, examine results of Tuesday's recall election in Niles Township. Schoff is president and Arsenovich attorney of Niles Township Taxpayers Association, which sought unsuccessfully to recall six board members.

ADC Father Is 14 Years Behind In His Payments

A father who hasn't made a child support payment in more than 14 years was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to start paying up.

Berrien Circuit Court Judge Zoe S. Burkholz imposed the sentence on George Ferguson, 1126 Union St., Benton Harbor. Ferguson was held in contempt of court for $5,065 arrears for one ADC child. Judge Burkholz said the sentence could be changed to 15 weekends in jail if Ferguson pays $125 on the arrears by Friday.

Ferguson was among seven fathers who appeared in court this week for arrears totaling $13,567. Five of the fathers were sentenced to jail by Berrien Circuit Court judges.

Joseph Beckmann, special investigator for the Berrien Friend of the Court's office, said Ferguson has never made a weekly child support payment since he was ordered to do so in February, 1963. Judge Burkholz also placed Ferguson on two years probation and ordered him to sign a wage assignment of $5 weekly support plus $10 per week on the arrears.

In other cases before Judge Burkholz, Chief Investigator Edward Pastrick reported:

Sonny Milliken, of Riverside Road, rural Benton Harbor, was ordered to begin a two-year probation with 60 days in jail for $2,753 arrears for two children not on ADC. The judge ordered Milliken to find work within 60 days of his release from jail and sign a wage assignment of $92 weekly support and $5 weekly on the arrears or spend another 60 days in jail.

Robert Gillispie, of 1059 Milton St., Benton Harbor, received a 60-day jail sentence for $2,212 arrears for one child not on ADC, and was ordered to find work and sign a wage assignment of $42 weekly support plus $5 weekly on the arrears within 30 days of his release or report back to court. Gillispie was also placed on two years probation.

James E. Shepard, of 121 S. Cayuga, Buchanan, was ordered to start a two-year probation with 20 weekends in jail and pay $57 weekly support and $5 per week towards an arrearage of $636 for two children not on ADC.

Robert Dewey, of Three Oaks, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for $1,448 arrears for one child not on ADC after being placed on two years probation. The judge also ordered Dewey to find employment within 30 days of his release and sign a wage assignment for $26 weekly support and $5 per week on the arrears or spend another 60 days behind bars.

In cases before Judge Julian E. Hughes, Beckmann reported: Earl Brown, of 393 Park Road, rural Benton Harbor, was sentenced to three years probation and ordered to sign a wage assignment of $7 weekly support and $7 weekly towards an arrearage of $804 for one child on ADC.

Hershal Hale, of 831 LaSalle St., Benton Harbor, was told to sign a wage assignment of $20 weekly support and $5 per week on an arrearage of $649 for one child not on ADC. Hale was also placed on three years probation.

Rail Crossing To Be Closed

COLOMA — Coloma Road at the railroad crossing a mile and a half west of here will be closed to traffic from 9 a.m. to noon Thursday to permit repairs, according to the Berrien County Road Commission. Ray Bronicki, road commission safety director, urged motorists to use Boyer and Bessemer roads or other routes. A railroad crew will be doing the work, he said.

NEW ATTORNEY: Barbara A. Banchemo, 29, of South Bend, was admitted to practice of law in Michigan during ceremonies yesterday before Berrien Circuit Judge Zoe S. Burkholz. Miss Banchemo will be associated with law office of attorney Casper O. Grathwohl in Niles. She has undergraduate degree from University of Michigan and received law degree from Indiana University. She was previously admitted to Indiana Bar, and has been working in law clerk capacity for Grathwohl for about a year. (Staff photo)

Berrien's Planning Chief Will Head Regional Unit

CASSOPOLIS — Charles R. Eckenstahler, director of the Berrien County Planning Department, yesterday was named executive director of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission.

The announcement was made by Lad S. Stacey, a Berrien County Commissioner who serves as chairman of the regional planning commission, which serves Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren Counties.

Eckenstahler, 29, of Bridgman, came to Berrien County in 1973 from Chicago as an assistant planner, and in 1974 was named planning director. His most recent salary was $18,000, but he will now be paid $21,000 with the regional planning commission, according to Stacey.

Stacey said the appointment is effective Dec. 1. Eckenstahler replaces Thomas Byers, who recently resigned the executive director's post to take a similar job with the Michigan Area Council of Governments. Eckenstahler was selected for the position from a field of 30 candidates Stacey said.

"We're delighted with the job Chuck has done with the county," commented Stacey. "He's succeeded there and we believe he'll be able to do the same with the regional planning commission."

was unanimously approved during yesterday's regional planning commission meeting.

Eckenstahler received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, and won a master's degree in urban and regional planning from Governors State University, Park Forest South, Ill.

Robert Pagel, chairman of the Berrien Planning Commission, said no replacement for Eckenstahler has yet been named.

New Mobile Home Park In Baroda Ready To Open Its First 35 Lots

BARODA — A new mobile home park within the village limits of Baroda is ready to open its first 35 lots to occupancy, according to Rudi Eichendorff, owner.

The park, known as Baroda Mobile Home Estates, is located on the west side of the Stevensville-Baroda Road just north of Lemon Creek road.

Eichendorff said he started site work on the park in September of 1976, but that work was held up for six months by a suit brought by five Baroda residents. After the court ruled in favor of the park, he said, work resumed last April.

Work will continue until a planned total of 75 lots are completed. Eichendorff said he hopes to have the entire park completed by the fall of 1978, and that all roads will be paved in 1978.

Some features of the park include village water, off-street parking, street lighting, and a recreation area along Hickory Creek which flows through the park property.

Eichendorff, who is a building contractor, said he will operate the Baroda Mobile Homes Sales at the park as a separate business.

Housewife Leads Ute Indians As New Chief

By BILL BEECHAM
Associated Press Writer
PORT DUCHESNE, Utah (AP) — Her dark eyes gleaming, Ruby Black grins, then laughs, her left fist gently pounding the desktop. She is leader of the Ute Tribe.

"After seven children, I don't think this job is as tough as it sounds. But I love it and hope I'm bringing something to it," she said.

Last spring, Mrs. Black was chosen chairman of the six-member Ute Tribal Business Committee, the first woman to head the 1,000 member tribe.

"I was a housewife to begin with and I'll always be a housewife," Mrs. Black said. "I just saw some things that needed to be done, then I talked about them and then I decided to try and do something about it."

Her constituency is the 1.3 million-acre Uintah and Ouray Indian Reservation, which sprawls L-shaped over the rocky red sandstone desert to the north and the hilly Book Cliffs to the east.

Powerful in history among the tribes and nations of the West, the Utes are a people facing many problems.

The tribe, which has invested in oil, a motel-recreation complex, a clothing outlet and several other ventures, has been losing money in recent years, say several persons associated with the tribe.

"We have our problems and we've been looking into them. We have meetings under way and expect to have things looking better shortly. For sure, we don't have as much money now as we did three or four years ago," she said.

Mrs. Black said tribe members seem to have a tough time getting credit. She said she has been rejected as a credit card applicant several times.

"I'm told it's happened to many of us," she added.

Another sore spot she hopes ease is a lack of jobs that forces young people to leave the reservation.

"There's nothing here to hold them," she said.

Despite the problems and some setbacks, Mrs. Black is optimistic.

"I believe there's a future for us, the tribe, just as there is a past," she said. "With lots of hard work and understanding by everybody, I think we'll move along all right."

Prisoner, 83, Denied Parole

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Ardell Mesles, 83, the oldest prisoner in Oklahoma, has spent 50 of the last 80 years in prison. "My chances of not dying in prison are awful poor," he said when denied parole.

Mesles was paroled three times, and three times was returned to prison for parole violations. The parole denial came Monday.

"There is no place to send this man," a corrections department employee told the state Pardon and Parole Board. "All his relatives are dead, he has not had a job in years and he just doesn't know how to live in the world outside."

After his interview with the board, Mesles said he has led a "wasted life" and is "a blank in this world."

Mesles was first sent to prison in 1917 to serve a life sentence for the ax-slitting of another man near Blackwell. He and the man had begun an argument over $3 from the sale of a wagonload of apples, authorities said.

His first release on parole came in 1947, but Mesles was returned to prison 10 days later for threatening to kill his sister, officials said.

He was paroled again in 1962 and returned to prison in 1965 for allegedly threatening to kill another person.

Mesles was paroled again in 1967 but returned on a violation in 1974, at the age of 80, when authorities accused him of making sexual advances toward women at a nursing home.

After he was denied parole Monday, Mesles said he would return "to my one great talent," feeding birds moldered bread at the Lexington Regional Treatment Center where he is imprisoned and "keeping care of my momma cat and her three small ones."

"I figure I might live three more years," he said. "I have bought a grave site. It's waiting on me."

Is That Music Or Noise?

SEATTLE (AP) — When the Ingraham High School band practices, earplugs go in, hoods go up and the buzzing in the brain swars. "You can't hear yourself," says Chuck Karschney, 17, a senior French horn player. The problem isn't with the musicians — it's the acoustics in the music rehearsal room. After repeated complaints last year, the school district ran a sound test, but it was done during the last week of school when 30 per cent of the band members had left. Even so, the test report showed the decibel readings ranging from 95 to peaks of 108 when the band played "Minstrel Boy." Audiologists say anything above 90 decibels for prolonged periods is harmful. The report recommended "requesting a survey and cost estimate for improved acoustic treatment of the room," but nothing was done. So band members like senior Doyle Meyer, a drummer, shelled out $5.95 for a pair of earplugs. Meyer uses them "to protect myself."

GALLUP Youth Survey

By GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N.J.

America's adults who are trying to lose weight have plenty of company among young people.

According to the latest Gallup Youth Survey, nearly half the teen-age population — a surprising 47 per cent — say they would like to lose weight. Not surprising, most are girls.

At the same time about one teen in four, 24 percent, would like the gain weight while 28 percent would like to remain at about their present level.

The desire to shed pounds is primarily a female attitude and is particularly prevalent among girls in the older teen group — those 16-18 years old. Fully two-thirds of teen-age girls questioned — 66 percent — say they would like to lose weight. And among older girls, 70 percent express this view.

Among teen-age boys the picture is quite different. More boys say they would like to gain weight (37 percent) than say they would like to lose (28 percent). About one boy in three, 36 percent, is satisfied with his weight.

What, if anything, are teens doing to shed those extra pounds?

Not unexpectedly, 81 percent of girls who want to lose weight are either eating less or have gone on a diet. About half of the boys, 45 percent, are taking the same step.

Among girls other weight reduction programs include general exercising (34 percent), running/jogging (eight percent), cycling (six percent), and swimming (four percent).

Among boys exercise (25 percent), running/jogging (24 percent), weight lifting (eight percent), and cycling (five percent), are the programs most often mentioned.

However, as many as one in five (21 percent) of boys and 18 percent of girls who want to lose weight admit they are doing nothing to achieve this end.

Eating more and exercise are the methods both boys and girls are using to gain weight. In addition, 10 percent of boys say they are "pumping iron" (lifting weights) to put on additional pounds.

Although many teens admit they are overweight, the desire to remain "fit" is widespread. Fully 81 percent of teens say they are doing something to stay in shape.

Among boys this activity takes the form of running/jogging, lifting weights, general exercise, cycling, swimming, and playing baseball. Basketball, hiking and tennis are also listed by boys as part of their overall conditioning program.

Girls put general exercising at the top of their list of fitness activities followed by running/jogging, cycling, swimming, biking, tennis, and baseball.

This question was asked to find out how many teen-agers are engaged in some kind of fitness program.

Here is the question asked to determine how teen-agers feel about their weight: "Would you like to gain weight or to lose weight?"

"Do you regularly do anything that helps you keep physically fit, or not?"

In nearly all divorce cases the children are awarded to the mother and the support payments go to the father. How many mothers out there could make a weekly support payment to an ex-husband? How many women out there would attempt to support children by two marriages?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper's multi-year campaign to expose fathers who won't pay support for children on ADC has had a tremendous impact statewide. It has saved the state of Michigan tens of millions of dollars as legislators have moved to provide for crackdown and prosecution of fathers in arrears. Although we admit not all mothers are saints, we are not about to stop exposing fathers who won't pay their children's bills.

BENTON HARBOR IN EARLY 1900s

Editor,
Benton Harbor after 1908, The Old Scenes: Hopkins-Bird-Reiber Drug stores on northeast & northwest corners of Main and Water streets; Morrow & Stone grocers, with large canvas sun and rain awnings hanging out over half the walk; produce displayed on walk in bushel baskets.

There was a nice varnished lunchwagon where the owner served popcorn, peanuts & sandwiches. Banyon's meat market had black delivery trucks with steel grill sides. They would deliver meat milks out on River road south to Tabor Farm resort. Graham & Morton steamships would turn around in large turning basin, churning & splashing around, then unload & load freight and fruit. They would dock where Salvation Army building now stands. There was also the Leader Daily News newspaper.

Street carnivals were held right where Brumhall's building now stands. There was an old red building east on Water St. that housed a machine shop. On K-D Wholesale Grocers' high brick wall there was a large painted sign of a tramp sitting by an open window in a shack. Sign read "Here I sit by the open window writing a testimonial about your soap - I used some once and have not used any other since." One could decide just what was meant. Remember the old Point Bar?

Years ago the P.M. passenger trains came through Benton Harbor with many coaches and huge puffing steam engines. The Benton Transit Ship Co. on West Main St. had the Bainbridge, Frank Woods and Charles McVae ships. The freighter Rising Sun docked on West Main and Mrs. Eaglesfield also had small fruit boats there.

Hinckley's huge basket factory and Thayer's Basket factory were located on West Main. Thayer's burned years ago. There was Johnson & Young's auto tire hospital on Collax and the U.R. Next Barber Shop. Shaffer and Rhoades Sudden Service tire store was on Pipestone St.

The streetcars and interurbans would rattle along the streets. There were three candy kitchens, B.Z. Bee, Olympia, and Candyland. Candyland served such sundries as American Beauty (highest priced), Girl's Dream, and Tin Roof. Herr Brother's Grocers was located on Main St.

Gleason's Hotel Rooming House had knotted ropes to slide down from the second floor in case of fire.

Large heavy loads of logs were pulled to basket factories with wagons and b.h. sleds. The men and animals worked hard. There was a real nice lunchwagon on Elm St., now Wall St. They had what was called The Human Fly who climbed the southwest wall of Benton Harbor State Bank, perhaps for advertisement.

On West Elm there were cold-water walk-up flats one block long. There were the Farmers Feed Sheds on Elm and Collax.

A man owned a turntable to swing his car around at his home about opposite the Baptist church on Pipestone so he didn't have back out into the street.

There were a number of movie houses in town, Princess, Bijou, Swastika, The Best Movie Show, Bell, and The Frances theater.

On Main St. there was a wood frame home owned by a Mr. McIntyre and a large two-story red brick home with a high brick wall around it and a pond inside the yard with many kinds of ducks. There were two cider and vinegar factories, Gehlert's and Robinson's.

TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE

Editor,
Americans! Listen! I have a solution to two of our most pressing problems: the Panama Canal and foreign steel imports. It's so simple, I can't believe that I'm the first to realize it: Build a canal across the Upper Peninsula.

Let me explain.
First, the canal would provide a much shorter route from the iron ranges of northern Minnesota and Michigan to the steel mills of Gary and vicinity. More efficient transportation of iron ore would lead to a waning tide of imported steel, which is threatening to cripple the American steel industry.

Secondly, give complete control of the canal in Russia, America, you could see first hand what it is like to have foreigners invade your own country and spend millions of dollars in rubles or something that should be used to feed and clothe the needy citizens of their own country. After this experience, perhaps we would give the Panama Canal back to the logical controllers, the Panamanians.

Okay, maybe I am being facetious, but I think you get the point. We shouldn't want the Panama Canal, we certainly don't need it. Please think it over, I value your opinion.

Van Buren Nepotism Issue Still Bubbling

JUDGE FRANK WILLIS
He's Target

WESLEY WICKETT Critical

By DENNIS COGSWELL

PAW PAW — Should elected officials be allowed to hire their relatives for county jobs?

That issue surfaced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Van Buren County Board of Commissioners when Commissioner Wesley Wickett criticized Probate Judge Frank D. Willis for hiring his brother, Gene, for a job as court payment collection worker.

It was the second time in the last two months that the issue of nepotism has come up at a board meeting. At the Sept. 27 meeting, Commissioners Daniel Skarritt and James Wellington criticized the practice of hiring relatives after it was learned that county Clerk Charles E. MacDonald had hired his daughter, Mrs. Margo Anderson, for a job in the clerk's office as keypunch operator. Wickett's remarks last night were made during a discussion of Gene Willis' performance in collecting money from parents to compensate the county for costs when their children must be placed in foster homes. Wickett noted that when the position was approved last March, there was no indication that Willis' brother would be hired.

"After everything happens," Wickett said, "it makes us (commissioners) look as if we're a bunch of pigeons setting up a job for somebody else's relative."

Wickett added after the meeting that because of a number of instances where county officials had hired relatives, it must look to the public that the county is maintaining some type of "country club."

Judge Willis responded that of the 15 applicants who applied for the job, his brother was the only one who had a background in business, and that he was hired because he believed him to be the best qualified.

"I don't think that as a general rule it's (hiring relatives) a good policy," Willis said. "But in a small community the size of Paw Paw it's bound to happen."

Willis added that when he made the hiring, he realized he would be open to criticism, but felt that since his brother was the best qualified person for the job, he should not "punish" him by not hiring him simply because of their relationship.

Wickett said he also was disturbed by the fact that Gene Willis received the appointment last May, several days before he had graduated from college, even though he was supposedly the best qualified person.

Willis responded that he was not sure of the exact dates but said if he had done anything wrong, he would have to answer to the public at election time.

Among other instances confirmed by Wickett after the meeting where relatives have been hired by a family member, are:

— Bryan Stump, son of Sheriff Richard E. Stump, is employed as a deputy in the sheriff's department. Stump's brother-in-law, Myron Southworth, is the undersheriff, and Stump's wife, Mary, is a matron and bookkeeper and administers the feeding of prisoners at the county jail.

— Prior to his appointment as Register of Deeds, Mark Smith worked as a clerk in the office of his father, Treasurer A. A. (Eddie) Smith. He had worked in the Register of Deeds office prior to announcing plans to seek election to that post.

Judy Jackson, daughter of Commissioner Shirley Jackson, holds a part-time job microfilming records in the Register of Deeds office. Mrs. Jackson did not do the hiring, according to a board spokesman.

In the cases of MacDonald's daughter, Willis' brother, Smith's son, and Mrs. Jackson's daughter, all the jobs were newly created positions. At the time the board approved the positions of Judy Jackson and Gene Willis, the board did not know who would eventually fill them.

Commissioners Gerald Hendel and Ruth Lytle said MacDonald's announcement that he wanted to hire his daughter caught the board by surprise, following the Sept. 27 board meeting where it was announced.

MacDonald at the time defended the hiring, saying Mrs. Anderson was the most qualified among three applicants for the job. He noted that of those three, one wanted to work only part-time, another did not have experience with business machines involved in the job, and his daughter did.

He also said that Mrs. Anderson has worked for the county in the Friend of the Court's office for five years, and it is county policy to promote employees to better jobs whenever possible.

The clerk also said all three applicants were given interviews, and that the county personnel policy for hirings was followed to the letter.

That policy, passed last January, requires that job openings be posted in the courthouse, and if no suitable applicant is found, with the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

MacDonald, Rendel, and Mrs. Lytle all contended a short time after the Sept. 27 meeting that to not hire a relative for a job, even though they were the best qualified person, would amount to reverse discrimination.

"I don't think (relatives) should be discriminated against, but I don't like to see two people from the same family working in the same department," Rendel, whose daughter once held a part-time job in the prosecutor's office, said in an interview.

"I personally would not have any of my kids under me in any employment situation," said Mrs. Lytle, noting there is too much chance to be overly critical or not critical enough of a family member's work."

Both Rendel and Mrs. Lytle said hiring of relatives for county jobs has gone on for years, and that there's little the board can do about it. Rendel said that under an opinion by the state Attorney General, department heads have the right to make all hirings — all county boards can do is approve or disapprove the position.

"If they (elected officials)

don't pick the right one for the job, they'll have to answer to the people," Rendel said.

There are other cases where more than one member of a family are employed in county offices, but in those cases none are elected officials.

Elevator Proves To Be Sticky Problem For Six

PAW PAW — Being a Van Buren County Commissioner has its ups and downs, but Tuesday night six board members literally found themselves stuck on one problem. The culprit was a balky elevator which trapped Commissioners Edwin Twitchell, Shirley Jackson, Gerald Rendel, Ruth Lytle, Daniel Skarritt, and Linda Sparks between the first and second floors of the courthouse annex for some five minutes before last night's board meeting. After an emergency alarm went off, Circuit Court Judge Meyer Warshawsky and Commissioners George Fritz and Wesley Wickett rushed to the rescue, prying open the doors. The six trapped commissioners were then able to climb down about four feet to the floor below.

Last night wasn't the first time the elevator has acted up...er, down, since it was installed in the spring of 1976. At least one courthouse secretary has reported being trapped twice. County Clerk Charles E. MacDonald said he couldn't get the doors of the elevator to open in the annex basement about a month ago, but said he was informed that the elevator had been repaired a short time ago. And after last night? At last report a courthouse custodian was still trying to fix the elevator.

Murder Charge Hearing Asked

Odin R. Harris, 23, of 841 Pasadena Ave., Benton Harbor, demanded examination in Berrien Fifth District Court Tuesday on an open charge of murder in the fatal shooting Oct. 16 of Kenneth Hughes, 27, in Benton Township.

Hughes was killed outside the East End Bar and Grill, 995 E. Main St. after he had reportedly argued with a man inside the bar. Harris was arrested Monday by Benton Harbor police on a warrant issued Oct. 19.

District Judge Hugh Black set bond for Harris at $25,000. Harris failed to post bond and was jailed.

Willie Earl Sanders, 34, 156 Townline Road, Benton Township, was bound over to Berrien Circuit Court after waiving examination on a charge of larceny in a building — the Comet Discount Store on M-139 and Pipestone Road, Benton Township — Oct. 13. He was returned to jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

In other District Court cases, five people demanded examinations, and six were sentenced on misdemeanor charges.

Aaron Anthony Mott, 17, of 1752 M-139 and Gary Lynn Flenor, 26, both Benton Township, demanded examinations on identical charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. The pair were arrested early Monday morning when they were found inside a building at 1752 M-139 with a coin box and $70 in change allegedly removed from a copying machine at the Fairplain Plaza.

Mott and Flenor failed to post bonds of $1,000 and $500 respectively and were returned to jail. Joseph McKinney III, 20, of 570 Ogden Ave., Benton Harbor, demanded examination on a charge of larceny in a building — Bylow Grocery at Fair and Britain avenues in Benton Township — on Oct. 24. He was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Bernard Edwards, 21, and his brother Michael Edwards, 26, both of Detroit, demanded examinations on identical charges of possession of a pistol in a motor vehicle.

The brothers were stopped by Michigan State Police on I-94 in Coloma Township Oct. 23. Both men were released after posting $500 bond each. Bernard also paid fines and costs of $55 for use of marijuana in the Berrien County jail while awaiting arraignment.

Craig Bither, 19, of 809 Sierra Drive, Benton Township, was sentenced to $55 or 10 days after pleading guilty to a charge of use of marijuana in Benton Harbor Monday night. An additional charge of possession of marijuana was dropped.

Also receiving sentences yesterday were:

John Adams Curtis, 58, of 357 Washington St., Benton Harbor, $175 or 15 days for contempt of court — failure to show for trial on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Roger James Thayer, 31, Lockport, Ill., $30 for driving with a suspended license in New Buffalo Township on Oct. 22.

Marion Ingram, 36, of 575 Cass St., Benton Harbor, $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Coloma Township on Oct. 24.

George Lindsey, 54, Kalamazoo, $55 for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Benton Township on Oct. 22.

SOUTH HAVEN — Spontaneous combustion in a pile of oily rags was blamed for starting a fire that damaged a loading dock at the Hamlin-Overton Co., Elkburg Street, early today, South Haven firemen said.

Firemen said the 2 a.m. blaze was confined to the loading dock and there was no damage to the building.

Knapp was in process of moving from Wells Avenue address to new residence on US-33 North when larceny from garage occurred, officers said. (Staff photo)

Van Buren Okays Joint Foster Home

By DENNIS COGSWELL

PAW PAW — An agreement setting up a joint foster home for juveniles with Cass County was approved Tuesday night by the Van Buren County Board of Commissioners.

Under the arrangement, each county will receive a $15,000 grant from the state, with the $30,000 total going to pay for the care of up to six juveniles at a private home on a contractual basis.

The Cass Board of Commissioners okayed the agreement in September.

Van Buren Probate Judge Frank Willis said the home has not been selected yet, but that residents would stay on a short-term basis, usually the time between when they are removed from their own home and disposition of their case in juvenile court.

Those selected, he said, would include runaways, incorrigibles, or neglected children. Willis said the home would be similar to other forms of foster care, but will save both counties money since the state will be picking up the tab.

Willis also reported on an effort begun last spring aimed at increasing the amount the court collects from parents to help support children placed in foster homes or juvenile institutions. In the past, caseworkers had also worked on the collections, but their effectiveness in counseling was limited because of the parent's resentment over having to pay, Willis said.

The board had agreed to hire a person to work solely on the collections, with a provision that his performance be evaluated after six months to see if the amount collected justified the expense of his salary. Willis hired his brother, Gene, for the $8,500 a year post.

Willis reported that since his brother began work May 18, he has collected $13,710. He said juvenile caseworkers had collected $8,882 prior to that, bringing the total for the year to $22,592. Projected over the remainder of the year, the total will be $28,538, Willis said.

He noted that only $15,887 was collected from parents for support in 1976, and $10,964 in 1975. Additionally, about another $1,200 has been collected from juveniles or their parents for restitution to victims of crimes.

The judge predicted that because the collections are hitting parents in their pocket-books, they will make a greater effort to control their children's actions.

In other areas, the board also approved a 1978 budget calling for expenditures of $3,702,137, a $495,484 increase over this year's budget of $3,206,653.

Largest of the appropriations in the 1978 budget is $537,713 for the sheriff's department. Second biggest is $282,775 for the health department.

The 1978 budget, approved by the board Tuesday, contained no changes from one detailed last week at a public hearing by the commissioners.

The board also agreed to add four more CETA workers to the total of 10 now being used to compile information on tax assessment cards in townships.

The following persons were appointed to various boards:

Election scheduling, Augusta Dahms, Norma Sutherby, Patricia McNeil; Boundary Commission, Abe Warshawsky, George Falkner; Building Authority, Leonard Markstrom; social services, Arthur Nowor; Planning Commission, Norman Orr, Robert Cook; Construction Board of Appeals, Boyd Estes, Joe Miller, George Westcott; library board, Wilma Sink; and Commission on Aging, Martin Van Strien, Dorothy Ruple.

Judge Binds Niles Pair Over

By JOHN DYE

SOUTH BERRIEN — Two Niles men accused of slaying Virginia Chew on Oct. 14 during a sexual assault were bound over Tuesday to Berrien Circuit Court to face two counts each of murder.

Judge John Iwanluk, of Berrien Fifth District Court's Niles office, ordered Charles Alvord, 18, 1316 Oak St., and Barton Shank, 18, 716 S. Third St., bound over following a day-long preliminary examination demanded by the pair.

Judge Iwanluk ordered both men returned to the Berrien County Jail, St. Joseph, where they are being held without bond.

Alvord and Shank both face charges of first degree murder and murder while in the perpetration or attempted perpetration of a rape, in the stabbing death and alleged sexual assault of Miss Chew.

The two men were taken into custody in a Niles attorney's office, Robert Feldman, some five hours after the 18-year-old Miss Chew's nude body was discovered by her fiancé, Raymond Davis, in the bathroom of the home they shared at 607 N. Third St. in Niles.

Davis testified Tuesday he found Miss Chew about 7:30 a.m. on Oct. 14, after returning from work. He said he and the victim had been living together; had moved to the N. Third Street address two days before her death, and the couple planned to be married this summer.

Davis testified he did not know either of the men arrested. Shank lives about a mile from where the body was found while Alvord's home is about a mile and a half away.

Another of the nine witnesses called was Donald Lighthart, a Niles policeman. Lighthart testified that police found a jacket at the murder scene and later discovered a hospital statement in the pocket of the jacket which had Alvord's name on it and was signed by Alvord.

Lighthart said that when he arrived at the house he found several pools of blood, women's clothing in the living room of the residence, and two knives, one with a serrated edge and the second a butter knife, near Miss Chew's body.

Sgt. Frank Bickel, a Niles police detective, said that he found two spots of what he believed to be blood on Shank's undershorts when Shank was searched the night of his arrest. The officers testified they could not determine if the house had been broken into or not.

Dr. John Brunl, deputy Berrien county medical examiner, testified Miss Chew died of stab wounds about the neck and chest, including one through her heart. He said he found evidence of sexual assault, both before and possibly after her death.

In other testimony, the defendants were placed together on several occasions in the hours leading up to Miss Chew's death, estimated at 5:30 a.m. by Dr. Brunl; that the pair had been drinking on the night of Oct. 13 and early hours of Oct. 14, and that Alvord had allegedly discussed having sex and allegedly asked a store clerk, "where's the women."

Daniel Phillips, 957½ Pine St., Niles, testified that a trio he identified as Shank, Alvord and Dave Percy of Niles first visited him about 2:30 a.m., Oct. 14, and drank a beer together. Phillips said that during the first visit Alvord allegedly suggested visiting a Niles woman (not Miss Chew), bringing her back to Phillips' apartment, tying her to a bed and having sex. Phillips claimed Shank "passed out" during the visit. He said Shank and Alvord returned without Percy about 5:30 a.m.

Floyd Ostrander, an employee of a Niles grocery store, testified that Alvord and Dave Percy came to the supermarket twice in the early morning hours of Oct. 14 and Alvord allegedly asked "where's the women."

Shank was represented by St. Joseph attorneys George Keller

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Head Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher today, following through on the technical upswing that began late in Tuesday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials picked up 3.47 to 808.01 in the first half hour.

Gainers led losers by close to a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said buying was encouraged by the Dow's rebound Tuesday from the 796.80 level, which is regarded as technically important because it marks the halfway point of the average's advance from late 1974 to September of last year.

There appeared to be no negative response to the Federal Reserve's announcement late Tuesday that it was raising the discount rate — the rate it charges on loans to its member commercial banks — from 5 1/2 to 6 percent. The move had been widely expected.

NCR was the early volume leader among NYSE issues, up 1/2 at 40 1/2.

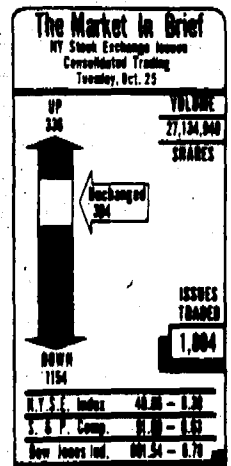

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average, in the 790s through nearly all of the session, cut its loss to .78 at 801.54 with an upturn just before the close.

But declines overpowered advances by close to a 4-1 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 23.59 million shares against 19.21 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .38 to 49.86.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index tumbled 1.58 to 111.38.

NEAR 800: Stock prices posted their third straight decline Tuesday, pushing the Dow Jones average below 800 for the first time in more than two years. The Dow average of 30 industrials, in the 790s through nearly all of the session, cut its loss to .78 at 801.54 with an upturn just before the close. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

HARTFORD TOWNSHIP

Zoning Ordinance Changes Proposed

HARTFORD — Three changes in a proposed zoning ordinance for Hartford Township were aired Tuesday night during a public hearing by the township's planning commission.

The changes included adding a new zone, adding a size limitation for building on agricultural land and a change in mobile home restrictions.

According to the planning commission, another public hearing on the changes will be held next month at the commission's regular meeting. The planners hope to present the completed ordinance proposal to the township board in December.

The new zone, commercial-residential, would run adjacent to two main roads in the township, Red Arrow Highway and CR-687. It would include 750 feet on either side of CR-687 north from the Hartford City limits and on some portions of Red Arrow. The zone would include small businesses and single family residences, according to the commission.

In response to audience reaction to the mobile home restriction, the commission agreed to make changes in its proposal.

DOWNTOWN MALL

Niles Council OKs Pared-Down Plans

BY JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
NILES — Sealed-town plans for a proposed Niles Center Shopping Mall for the downtown business district here were approved by the Niles City Council Tuesday night.

Cost of the project, which had originally been set at $10 million dollars, was dropped to $4 million, according to a statement released by developers Capital Investing Corp., Wallingford, Conn.

The proposed mall would be built in a triangle of land, bounded by Second and Main streets and the St. Joseph River. In August, the city sold the 3.7-acre tract to the Connecticut firm even though final plans for the project were uncertain.

In the statement released by the firm, it was announced plans call for a single enclosed shopping mall to be built on the former urban renewal lot.

As originally proposed, the firm said it wanted to build an underground parking garage, a seven-story office building and a shopping mall. In the revised plans, space has been set aside for 210 above-ground parking spaces, and a single building with a total of 137,671 square feet.

Federal Discount Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's discount rate is going up a notch, another sign of rising interest rates and tighter credit.

The board, which sets federal monetary policy, announced Tuesday that the discount rate would increase from 5 1/2 per cent to 6 per cent today.

The discount rate is what the Federal Reserve charges banks to borrow money and has often been manipulated to restrict credit. In this case, however, it is catching up with earlier money-tightening measures taken by the board.

The independent agency, over opposition from the Carter administration, has been trying to make money more scarce to keep prices from rising.

President Carter's advisers contend a faster growth in the money supply is needed to keep the economy expanding. They contend that rising short-term interest rates might affect such long-term interest rates as mortgages.

The banks have been charging their best customers more for credit, raising their prime rate from 6 1/2 per cent to 7 1/2 per cent in less than a year.

The discount rate had remained constant at 5 1/2 per cent for nearly a year until it was raised to 5 1/2 per cent Aug. 28.

The board said it was forced to raise the rate because too many banks were borrowing from the Federal Reserve.

In an important economic indicator released Tuesday, the Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods rose six-tenths of 1 per cent in September, after declining 4 per cent in July and rising 4 per cent the next month. Demand for these long-lasting products is often a sign of future economic activity.

State Hearing Slated On M-62 Link To New US-31

SODUS — The State Highways and Transportation Department will hold a public hearing Nov. 22 on the possibility of extending M-62 to meet with the proposed new US-31 relocation. Sodus township officials learned Tuesday night.

The hearing will be held from 4-8 p.m. at Eau Claire high school's cafeteria.

Future improvements of M-62 from M-140 westerly through the southern end of Sodus township to the proposed US-31 relocation will be discussed.

In other areas, the township board approved looking into the possibility of installing street lights along Pipestone Road near the Jeno's parking lots. Motorists have complained of the danger of people running across Pipestone from the plant to the parking lots at night in the unlighted area.

The board had no objection to the proposed transfer of a Class C liquor license from William J. Bryan at 6410 River Road (the former Dog Patch tavern) to Southwestern Developers Inc., at 2535 M-139, the Country Cookin' restaurant.

It was announced that, starting Nov. 2, the township hall will be open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons from 1-5 p.m. on a trial basis. Mrs. Clarence Steinke will be the office. The township hall has never had regular office hours before.

It was also announced that Sodus township firemen will be putting on a safety film and fire extinguisher demonstration Nov. 1 at all four elementary schools in the township. The schools are River, Stump, Sodus and St. Paul's Lutheran.

Allegan County's Budget Increased 23.6 Percent

ALLEGAN — The Allegan County Board of Commissioners Tuesday night adopted a 1978 budget of $4,897,227, a 23.6 per cent increase over the 1977 budget of $3,967,889.

The single biggest increase went to the sheriff's department, boosted by 31 1/2 percent up to $864,275. The 1977 budget was $732,732.

The new county budget is up by $919,558 over the 1977 budget, but much of that increase is due to the new mandatory inclusion of state and federal grants not included as part of last year's budget, county officials said.

They cited as an example the new $587,000 in federal funds for CETA workers included in the 1978 budget, including some $93,000 worth in the sheriff's department.

The budget given unanimous approval by the board includes a six percent pay raise for county employees, except sheriff's deputies now negotiating a contract, and a mileage boost from 15 cents to 16 cents per mile.

In approving the budget, the commissioners deleted a $17,000 jail rehabilitation program that was funded this year, but approved township road patrols by the sheriff's department on a 24-hour basis.

Participating townships will pay $750 yearly each for the extra patrol service they had sought from the county.

The budget includes salary boosts for elected officials. The county clerk's was raised from $17,320 to $17,820; the treasurer's, from $15,304 to $16,304; the prosecutor's, from $26,000 to $27,000; the register of deeds', from $12,504 to $14,064; the sheriff's, from $15,804 to $16,304; and the drain commissioner's, from $14,804 to $15,304.

Here is a summary of the 1978 appropriations for some county departments and a 1977 comparison in parentheses:

$88,625 ($76,255); register of deeds, $58,053 ($42,610); treasurer, $147

Carter, Ford Still Think They 'Won' The TV Debates

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — A year later, the rival sides agree on one thing: each says the presidential campaign debate between Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford served its candidate well.

Presumably they served Carter a little better, since he won the election. Without the debates, he has said, he would have lost. He hasn't said whether, as president, he'll agree to a repeat with his challenger in 1980.

Nonetheless, a strategist for the losing Republican side maintains that Ford's decision to debate was the right one, suggesting that without the three nationally televised confrontations, the election wouldn't have been as close as it was.

All of this came up for review,

WON'T RUN: State Rep. Elaine Noble of Boston, who became the first avowed lesbian to win elective office in the nation three years ago, is giving up her seat in the Massachusetts House of Representatives when her current term expires. (AP Wirephoto) and for a look at the uncertain future of national campaign debates, at a conference sponsored by the American Enterprise Institute.

The conference was long on analysis and short on conclusions, because Carter will determine whether there are candidate debates next time.

The Republicans surely will demand a new round, pointing out that when their man was the incumbent, he broke precedent and confronted his challenger. Of course, Ford had his reasons. "The traditional wisdom was that an incumbent president did not debate his challenger, but then, ours was not a traditional incumbent," said Richard Cheney, Ford's White House staff chief.

"The concern that debates would place President Ford and the governor on an equal plane in the eyes of the public was of little consequence," Cheney told the conference. "Frankly, we would have been delighted in July to have been perceived on equal terms."

That was when Carter was a runaway leader in the polls, by more than 30 points in one survey.

Furthermore, Cheney said, Ford strategists figured the debates would give Carter's views "the kind of exposure which had previously been lacking, and would hopefully contribute to our efforts to persuade several million Americans that he disagreed with them on several issues."

Carter strategists wanted to debate for some of the same reasons.

"We had to debate to reinforce those people who intended to vote for Carter," said pollster Patrick Caddell. "Debates would give him depth exposure, would demonstrate his competence in the same arena with an incumbent president, would retain his solid vote — and keep reinforcing it."

"Winning or losing debates, whatever that means, doesn't change votes," Caddell added. "It has been viewed aptly as a football game. You root for your team, but if it doesn't win, you don't stop being a fan of that team."

Caddell's polls showed that while Carter had been slipping six or seven percentage points a week, that slide was halted after each of the three presidential campaign debates.

Cheney said he still believes

Ford's decision to debate Carter was strategically correct.

"In the end, we were unable to overcome the Carter lead ... but viewed in the light of our July deficit of more than 30 per cent, we felt that we had run a successful campaign," he said. "I believe the debates were an important part of that success."

But successful losing campaigns are not likely to become popular. Candidates run to win, not to come close, and that goal will guide them when it comes time to decide whether to confront a rival in debate.

It may be more difficult to avoid debates in the future, but many difficult things are achieved in the quest for election — or re-election — to the White House.

So the debate about debating will go on; until there are candidates to decide whether their pursuit of the presidency will be best served by seeking or avoiding nationally televised confrontation.

There may come a time when public demand will weigh heavily in that decision, when there appears more political risk in avoiding than in joining debate.

But there is not much chance that two candidates will soon, if ever, come to the contest as firmly convinced as were Carter and Ford that the televised debate was the ticket to victory.

Today in History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Oct. 26, the 298th day of 1977. There are 66 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1825, the Erie Canal was opened, connecting the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.

On this date:

In 1760, George III was crowned king of England.

In 1774, the First Continental Congress was adjourned in Philadelphia.

In 1905, Sweden recognized Norway's independence.

In 1917, Brazil declared war against Germany.

In 1968, 43 American servicemen died in a fire on the aircraft carrier Oriskany off South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: The Shah of Iran crowned himself and his queen after 20 years on the Peacock Throne.

Five years ago: Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger declared that peace was at hand in the Vietnam War and that Saigon would agree to a ceasefire.

Today's birthdays: The Shah of Iran is 58 years old. Republican Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts also is 58.

Thought for today: Culture is one thing, and varnish another — Ralph Waldo Emerson, American essayist and poet, 1800-1882.

Thirty-Nine Learn To Avoid Crashes

Thirty-nine Berrien County employees last week took an eight-hour defensive driving course at Lake Michigan College. Lt. Michael Devine, LMC law enforcement training coordinator, said participants included sheriff's officers, court and juvenile services workers, and others. Devine said the purpose of the course was to reduce accidents among county employees who drive many hours a week and encounter all types of "hazardous situations in normal patrol as well as high speed or pursuit driving." The course was taught by John Kellogg, a consultant for the Hartford Insurance Group, in cooperation with LMC, Berrien County officials, and the Bell-Molhoek Insurance Agency of St. Joseph.

Will Questions Are Answered

NILES — The Senior Law Center here has issued a statement in hopes of clarifying some questions concerning wills, according to H.F. Brandon, center administrative assistant.

In its latest bulletin, the center which serves senior citizens, stated that some property by its very nature is not subject to probate and therefore is not disposed of by a will, because it passes "by operation of law."

That is, because of the way that ownership of the property has been established or because of some other legal document, the property automatically becomes the property of some other person at the death of the owner.

The center's bulletin said "Too many persons think that suggest that there may be advantages to making sweeping changes in the ownership of many assets. While such arrangements may have the advantage of avoiding probate, there are many reasons why such changes should not be undertaken lightly and without sound legal advice."

On another matter, the bulletin stated that in light of recent legislation, a person does not have to be a Michigan resident in order to serve as executor of a will. State statute now provides that anyone who is a U.S. citizen over 18 may serve in such capacity if he is a state resident, or files an instrument with the probate court designating a resident agent approved by the court to accept service of processing all actions or proceedings with respect to the estate. s "

The bulletin added that not everyone needs a will. Small estates statutes in Michigan make wills unnecessary where there is very little property.
